Introduction: The elites who I have listed do everything politically, yet they lie to the public and claim it is in the name of “justice”, “compassion”, “tolerance”, “peace”, ”historic”, a “better world”, “freedom” etc. All this will show none of what they are doing is working. This list just goes on and on. What the elites do will continue distorting America further and further. They will not quit, and the list will go on. I use the term “elites” because I could not find any other word to describe them. I am aware on the radio; hosts use the term “elites” to get more views. A pawn of the elites is anyone who works for the elites who makes more than 60k a year and works a job such as a college professor or a CEO in one of the elites’ countries supporting the country or the political party within the elites’ countries. A pawn of the elites has a medium or a large amount of followers on social media. The freemasons, talmudists, wahhabs, catholics, these are the ones doing by far the most damage. Today’s first world countries is nothing more than a shelter for people to hide their religious beliefs by making sure no one knows what you believe and confuses people by allowing lying so you can lie about your beliefs. The elites do everything in their power to make sure their citizens are not exposed to what they believe. You can just tell some talmudist sits at his computer all day, looks at people’s private information, reads books, and watches the news to plan how to corrupt the earth. What he then does is sell the ideas he has on how to corrupt society to other elites, governments, and corporations. The elites know well what these ideas will do and how to profit from them. Another point to talk about, the elites overwhelmingly target the youth worldwide to protest with ideas that could never work, this is the method I feel they use the most. The elites believe without them, their false god couldn’t function, that their false god needs them and should always obey them. At some point, it will get to their heads. They claim our Muslim leaders want power, look at what they do. All these paragraphs will do is keep confirming and confirming it. If an elite you know is on this list whether I mention them by name or not, the elites are at the lowest of low lacking all morals. Some elites put more towards ruining the earth, but they could not possibly be worse people if they tried. It’s not just one idea they carry out, it is at least many ideas they carry out to ruin the earth.

The elites want people to protest because they want an environment where in any country something goes wrong people protest. It is convenient these same elites will imprison people who protest in their Bahrain. It can only be in the countries they don’t own like Iran.

Richard Berthold a college professor from New Mexico said, “anyone who bombs the pentagon has my support”, what may seem too crude to say is bad for society. It is bad because what if the college students took from him and kept saying more and more material of that sort because they enjoyed it and thought it was controversial and fun to say? That's why it says in Islam in their hearts is a sickness and it grows and grows because we cannot trust you to say one thing and not take it further which he did he dressed as a nazi to protest the republican party. All people are going to tell me is "you're no fun, lighten up", we can't be like this, the world doesn't work that way. Therefore, I believe elites made America so that when the religious people say you cannot do that it makes it seem like I'm throwing stones at people because I don't own a mansion. The world must collapse, we are headed nowhere.

I figured out that the elites do not want structure in anyone's life, that way they can control people by throwing them all around the place having them everywhere at every time. Islam preaches modesty, the opposite. It must really upset elites for instance how the Palestinians keep fighting to protect their land, in the elites mind you get up and leave that we have all your finances set for you to live in Jordan. If you don't have structure, you can be pushed around because you have no focus no values you get mad at random things and then go to something else. The last thing they want is angry Muslims now that we can form armies to protect the land look at what they do in Gaza where it is chaos. That's why in America, they say you have mental health issues they want to suppress you to make you forget who you are and give you a new identity. Why do you think they have colleges to teach you nothing? You can have your Islamic faith if you can sit through classes all day that teach deviation and we will flood every ideology possible at you on the internet with characters like Lauren Chen to name one. They are drilling you with useless information.

Boy are these people smart, having Ilhan Omar a refugee politician in America who claims injustice and insults America a country where every voice is heard. Something so simple, so cheaply thought up could do so much damage. Give yourselves a round of applause elites.

Instead of giving the money away to charity to build houses for people in any country, they build up Dubai because they hate people. They don't get any joy out of Dubai, they don't care their status, they want to make their countries seem better than they are maybe as a plot to get away with starving children to death in Yemen. I think the reason is for the elites to say we care about you when we really don't, they are just using you giving you nice things that they themselves don't enjoy like a Ferris wheel I saw in a video. None of this is caring about people, they don't need the money either, they control the currency you use, you will spend it on some purchase they control basically they will get all of it anyways.

Here’s an example where the elites just don’t care about anything, they knew back in 1937 that pot is bad for you. They weren’t going to try to make a case. Shows like family guy come along and claim a bogus injustice done to people where pot was banned for a politician to get votes. First, your TV shows lie about history whether they call the show parody or not they promote Family Guy to no end during commercials and it’s well known. Second, why are they the ones explaining marijuana to you? Why can’t schools be taught how dangerous it really is? I get that the cops must handle it, but everyone hates the cops! Now pot is legal, and the politicians don’t care. The war on drugs was for nothing, now we know why it happened that at the least of the dangerous effects of pot, it is a gateway drug.

The so called “United” States of America to be laughed at and used by elites who do not care for your views one bit!

The elites use “open minded” people to push their agenda into religion to try to make all religions accept their agenda of lgbt. The elites are trying to make us seem not fair for not doing what the elites want.

This is how elites get away with this because you will never know who is truly incompetent or is an elite that is scheming things, you will never know what their ambitions are, ever. Because of this, people get so angry. However, if you mention the elites and their families to show them the suffering they caused, a portion of them will take serious offense to it knowing the crimes this caused. This doesn’t make sense at all because the elites will be going to Hell, this is fact given that they know right from wrong and thrive off it. However, the incompetents we truly do not know what Allah will do with them.

Do you notice how the internet was nowhere near as scary in 2004? They had a few scary websites, but you had to explicitly go to them. Now we have monopoly websites such as Instagram, Twitter, and Tik Tok where there is so much material on it that will truly horrify you. What is crazier is that all these people and the elites have photos of them smiling so many you lose count. People who did sick things on the internet would never show their faces, ever I remember this. I don’t remember too well, but I know there were actual trolls, but there were not many, and they were not reading books all day to try to mess with you alone, one must wonder if the trolls back then were being playful as if. I will bet that baring a few, all the incompetents in society were off the internet including the elites and their families when it was just chats of people literal in a group session talking about ideology for instance without any fights at all maybe a few get upset and leave but that’s it. This must all be coming by these people along with the elites AND they influence it all somehow. None can answer why these people HAVE to have the internet that the elites clearly want you on all day long, only a genius could figure this out, I haven't a clue.

Do you think this is some sort of mistake, when you think of Saudi Arabia, they have the numbers of the people and the Facebooks where the studies will already show that yes a person as such will graduate the college and go on to ruin the faith for everyone by doing things such as lying about what is in the Quran to try to further the religion? OR, what these people do not the elites clearly responsible, they know who will just argue and argue that they are right all day long knowing that yes, these people will ruin Mosques and go figure they are there daily. Does this seriously sound like something they cannot correct when they know these people will graduate and go on to be fake Imams for Saudi Arabia? Do you notice how these people always get loans in I think every 1st world country, no joke? All they would have to do is sit down with the person and ask them questions about how they truly feel. If they cannot find this out, what they can do is later shut them down because they can see that yes they are reposting false hadiths that Saudi Arabia invented, and yes these fake Imams do this all day long. And by age 30, they can lose their license of being an Imam for good. Yes, these people are convinced of actual lies and they further them at Mosque, I wonder why

The elites are trying to radicalize you where people like David Wood make video after video trashing the Islamic faith.

Is it possible that when the elites do these skypes with their pawns like Alex Jones, the skype gets monitored by the NSA that for sure it is never uploaded to the internet? This is very possible because the elite would tell the NSA to make sure it never goes public ever how to train a guy like Alex Jones. You very rarely can ever get access to elites talking about this. What they might be doing is sending people out in person to talk to Alex Jones and both the elites and Alex Jones make sure there are no cameras at all for it. Keep in mind also that no one will believe a page worth of insight on this event, people put anything they want on the internet, for something like this you would need video where Alex would obviously play into it by saying "yeah I meet elites daily" and fake his anger towards the accusation.

If a country is far too political, it will radicalize people, it doesn't matter that both the conservatives and the liberals and America hate each other. People will still be passionate for the "American cause". The elites know this, and the elites think they are helping make your life so much better when really the country will get out of control and there will be so many protests with American flags everywhere you not even know. What seemed innocent and caring for the citizens is going to get out of hand!

When the elites cancel out hitting your child as discipline, they are trying to cut out Allah from society.

A 4-year college degree means you know all to life for many people, also you will be given an ideology of some kind either American conservative or leftist being that many teachers will share their beliefs with you. You get a higher grade when you show interest in the professor's ideology, and you want to impress your family with high grades. ……. The elites knew.

People talk about Nick Fuentes like he's such a sick man or Dick Cheney for instance is for stealing oil reserves……. These elites and their pawns are at the same level. The difference is they get away with it and those who protest this don't.

Sports fanaticism is not considered a mental illness…… there was a football documentary called "the religion of sports" ……

Do you notice how comedians use the darkest humor possible?

Buddhist monks who do not eat and sit on the streets all day are seriously mentally ill. Because they claim a religion they are not deemed as such…….

If you think about it deep, people will almost never be wrong but be so wrong about so many other things….

Keep in mind, the president goes to church a good number of times in his 4-year term. The president is never viewed as crazy for doing this and the president will never speak of the Bible End Times ever.

Obey skateboards use communist material and use the color red on everything they make, skateboards for the youth……

Doomsday cult is barely written about on Wikipedia for something that is so widespread used worldwide and is used on not just religious people but concerned parents protesting the schools. Wikipedia will call you a "conspiracy theorist", yet it means the same thing and yes, a few conspiracy theorists don't think the world will end.

Both leftists and American "conservatives" want you to be perfect beings which we are not. They will work, work, and work with you until this is achieved at any cost the ones that are perfect must make. This couldn't go more against Christianity which America claims to be a Christian nation where we are sinners first! Then you can be as "perfect" as you want after accepting this reality where you will live in a country where no one feels shame for anything they do not matter the scale of what was done where the public could not care less for anything you do or say they will not hold you in account for it. Today will always be a new day to try the same methods….

Taxpayers have to pay welfare to keep people away from society and give them TVs to watch shows all day, however, what these patients are now doing which they enjoy by far the most is to go on social media and type horrific things about you all day as “activists”, now they go to all these rallies. That’s where your money goes taxpayers and not these patients will not just quit welfare over a 3-year span of collecting it, they claim an “anxiety disorder” that prevents them from talking to people that they do not know well enough, yet this anxiety does not prevent against sending messages, having Twitch to only try to bring people down nor does it prevent them from going to group homes their whole lives with people who they barely know and are mentally ill as well.

What they will tell you in waiting rooms and psych wards in America yes this happened to me is “you can believe what you want” ……. Yet the government knows some of these cults in America are so dangerous, yet they do nothing about it as I have shown by so much evidence. In today’s first world countries and South America, you can tell people you are in a cult and the officials and citizens will do nothing about it. Even in atheist China, I am sure the officials will at least investigate this if you tell people in public… I know one thing, if you are Palestinian you cannot live in the land no matter what your beliefs are, so it is only at America is this policy implemented not foreign where America does not control the country.

The politicians are not pushing any bills, but if the push too many there will be more activism given the climate in America. The public like my college teacher told me that nothing is getting done with politicians saying, “the politicians sit and do nothing.”

LSD, meth, and PCP is what is frying people’s brains, we don’t know how much of it is causing this, but we know this is the drug that causes it. Heroin, cocaine (I know) crack, and fentanyl I am confident does not do this to someone ever, I don’t think I am forgetting any other major drug that does this. I think mushrooms and Xanax can cause this but at a high dosage of a very long time of abusing the drug. If I am right, we know immediately which drug is causing this serious problem in society. Yet LSD is so readily available at concerns everywhere…….

Remember that if churches in America don’t go along with what the people who go to them want such as blm and lgbt, they will be shut down from having only a few followers. This is the monopoly America has over its churches in America.

The elites figured out how to make people claim persecution all day. Yes, it is ok to claim, but not all day long. That would rev you up believing you are always being persecuted in some way. Both the left and the right in America will always claim this.

A serious flaw in psychology, since everything is a theory in psychology such as boundaries, I can just dispute them since nothing is definite nor a fact. For you to get angry at me touching your shoulder and yelling at me for doing so, who are you to say that I am wrong in touching your shoulder? Are you the top psychologist this world has ever seen? Even he or she could not possibly have always been right.

To the lgbt and their big supporters waving flags everywhere, posting on social media, you are revealing your sexual orientation to me, a guy who doesn't know you at all. It might be the elites who thought of this.

This prankster (Lofe) with 636k subscribers is the biggest a hole prankster one could possibly be. He goes to a job interview dressed as a gangster at an Arby's. Once the hiring manager realized the prankster playing as a gangster was too dumb (the prankster duped the hiring manager), the prankster then goes over to the hiring manager who was behind the register and says to the hiring manager that the place is for (essentially flamboyant gays) and that the hiring manager does a horrible job. The hiring manager, upset, threatens to call the cops. Could there be a more horrific way to insult someone? The hiring manager works at an Arby's, having someone make fun of him claiming the hiring manager has failed at life in every regard to also be giving an interview to a guy who is stupid but can insult people well (the dupe on the hiring manager). All this was filmed showing the manager's face. YouTube takes down any comment that is deemed "harassment" or "bullying" but not a video that does both but also insults the lgbt community YouTube claims to shelter? What?

HealthyGamerGG brought on a social media influencer female named "Melina" who believes open relationships is the way to go and currently she has a child, yet it is so clear Melina went on his podcast only to share her beliefs not caring for thing HealthyGamerGG has to say as a form of advice. In HealthyGamerGG's defense, 85% of the people commenting seem to understand just how wrong this girl is and 100% of the comments at least can acknowledge that the incel is wrong and needs some form of help. HealthyGamerGG brought on a murderer on his podcast for over 2 hours who is out of jail. I am not making this up, all the comments say something of the magnitude "I can totally relate to this guy, please bring him back on!" Even worse, the murderer claims to have "childhood trauma" and that's a big factor or the reason as to what lead him to murder someone.

Do you notice how at any level they won't teach boundaries in the schools? But at any level in America, the leftists will mess something so simple like this up and make up so many boundaries that just don't exist which will confuse much of the public.

They don't teach in the schools that once the ambulance comes to pick you up, you must leave every time. You have a zero percent chance of getting out of the scene made without leaving for the waiting room.

America cannot function as a society because all their religious centers are heavily tied in with the police and FBI. That shows it is not safe to ever go to a religious center in America, yet they do not teach this in schools.

Do you notice how they never talk about Bible verses and the errors in the Bible to be debated on Fox News or CNN?

Google doesn't know where Biblical names come from. My mother thought my name James was Greek.

A clear sign of schizophrenia they change from the lgbt to christian to buddhist in the matter of a year. The elites do this on purpose, I wonder why.

America doesn't count any psych ward visits on a CORI check, they try to hide your information as best as possible with mental health.

They will never bang down your door and expect you to believe what they believe but they want your opinion so bad in society.

They don't teach in schools how to not be excessive in speech.

Do you notice that whoever you are they will give you a smart phone of some kind

They call it narrow-minded which is viewed as prejudice if you don't want to make friends with people who don't believe what you believe. Society is saying that you discriminate in some way for what is preference for not being friends with as many people of different beliefs as possible. This is absolutely an elite agenda.

In the future, the public will say "you make this up in your mind" because you are not credible, it now nullifies the endless people who saw Jesus. It doesn't matter if you tell the story exactly, they still don't believe you. Why believe you when all these other people call you a liar? What they will do is put doubts in people until Islam is impossible to be right since there is no voice of reason, no leadership. Islam teaches to tell the truth, but the people won't listen. Think about all the labels they have, they have canceled 1/3rd of Americans by design, you don't think an elite thought this through knowing you have a record? When you have everyone telling each other “You need to be medicated” everyone loses credibility.

I’m dead convinced that some elite is doing this to confuse you as to when to be upset and when not to be given they do stuff like have gangs when they have people’s information through the nsa, and they can just prevent them but they choose not to meaning they know what goes on but act like they don’t.

Isn’t it odd they document everything about you everywhere now you go such as the workplace, you get record you at every place you go out to, and that they have google maps for everything and they only sell you smart phones that they market so you can be watched everywhere? Remember, you need a phone, everyone does. I told a worker at my program, and he changed the subject somewhat upset, I was very upset to think about it. Some elite has to be messing with you!

These people will try to convert to Islam because they are so happy with what they believe, and they always want to share it with others. They even have grandkids they want to introduce them to what they think is Islam keep in mind that if they aren’t supportive of his beliefs, he doesn’t even mind one bit. If you don’t tell this guy exactly what he wants to hear, he will instantly try to bring you down assuming you wanted the worst for them by messaging them despite having flaws such as obesity that I can easily attack. They even write books on religion I don’t know how or who would even pay the money for them. You can even donate money to them, I have no words for this. Keep in mind that if ever an actual Muslim were to be put in prison, this guy will post about it on Twitter as if you and him are the same so he can politicize it yet despite the fact you and him hate each other and cannot be neighbors ever. He called 9/11 a conspiracy theory on his Twitter; I can prove the FBI has been taught by some elite to not target these people ever! When back in 2002 you would be targeted in some way shape or form. Remember they targeted me with the hopes of putting me in jail for life on a lie they made up. In fact, they hire employees that do not have a clue at all about what goes on in the Middle East and who is behind daesh, they will claim Pakistani people are responsible. In fact, another employee smirked about it when I mentioned it to him who is responsible.

There is a video on YouTube about a holocaust survivor is talking to children about his experience. He has zero problems talking about it at all and can go on for hours without making any sort of face of shame. If you know what truly happened in detail about how the holocaust is a lie, you should laugh at something like this. In fact, if there was one human being in the earth who was part of this actual holocaust, they couldn’t help but change the subject immediately making some sort of face of disproval at it. Yet what happens is that you just feel shame for watching the video. It is as if an elite is behind this.

This is an area where it may seem like an elite is behind this, I cannot prove if one is or not, but I am convinced that this is just to make America seem like a better place for the youth. They are taking out bullying from schools, this will mean more people will grow up to not understand when things such as touching people are not acceptable. It may seem like an elite thought of this, but I doubt it completely. I value your opinion on this one.

They will never teach in the schools what are sensitive topics to talk about in the schools, so somebody that you may know typing this will not know. If they don't they will be ruled incompetent and will go to a psych ward not understanding their actions, how they had caused a fight at a protest and guess what they must go so for life they will be seen as incompetent. An elite has to be behind this one where they would have studies for this about people who are so passionate about what they do they will yell for hours at the other person in the streets.

How big of hacks elites must be that they want to get rid of hate in society for their country and the elites hate Muslims who stand in their way, yet they hide from the public the hate they have for Muslims? It never ends with elites.

The elites clearly use traumas as a tool to ruin Syria…… this is so sad there is not even words.

Let's say by some sequence of events where you were able to get famous on YouTube with 1 million followers, you lived in America, and YouTube couldn't take down your channel. The elites would send all these women out and call women that you were within your past to claim you raped them. The elites would try anything possible to get you to quit what you do even if that meant for instance you had an uncle that seriously harmed someone with a DUI and the elites would make sure it went public. The elites would do this because they stop at nothing to hide the fact that Islam is right, and the people of Yemen are being attacked by both America and Saudi Arabia.

Do you notice how it is just title after title (use Twitter for this here) for the left, the right does this but to what extent? "Black, oppressed, expert, advocate, proud wife/ parent, college degree they have, live in San Francisco, activist, community organizer, gender pronouns, democratic, they have a banner to show a picture of something they want, historian, victim, mentally ill, victim of slavery, philosopher, justice seeker, free Ukraine, black lives matter, artist, what religion they claim. An elite is clearly trying to control a person like this to build them up to becoming a narcissist when I saw a person like this that was so kind for instance in a college class, I am sure one of them is like this by now or was back in college like this but was so kind in person and very tolerant of my conservative beliefs meaning all those descriptions would scare a conservative like me away back then thinking they will yell so loud at me when they would never. This is a phenomenal example of how the elites gave people fame, voices, somehow when in reality not many people read your Twitter.

Isn't it convenient how both the good and bad are losing hope in society? The only ones that are not by this point are the elites for some reason.

An animal cannot be cynical in any way. Yes, an animal can be abused and hurt by this where they are willing to hurt people, but they only want to be left alone at all costs sometimes above all other desires by that point in an animal. This would make the elites lower than animals since animals cannot be cynical.

The elites and their pawns want to use people who don't care about being used at all because they are so deep in their ideology, they overlook being used …… so realistically, the elites didn't get at all the picture-perfect scenario for them they had going in the 1960s where they had fully control over people who trusted in them and were not deep in ideology.

How genius would an elite be to try to be to make your life as hectic as possible? Your smart phone to text all day where you also upload all this videos of yourself, having all the teachers in high school tell you that we want you to make as much money as possible where you live the best life you can possibly live, travel everywhere, sexualize women as much as possible, fight the enemy either republicans or democrats, tell you to be young forever showing passion for sports teams, give you every item you want including the car on credit you wanted, and make everything so big such as politics knowing that you will crash at some point?! What brought people joy is causing their misery. Aren't these the same elites that wanted nothing more than to end the earth? I think social media made the elites change their minds to keep propping up the earth while trying to end the countries in their way. What else would make them think America should be higher than number 1 in an economy which was it was known for prosperous wealth? Where your life is even better than having a home and a family so now you get a smart phone to listen to any speaker you want all time talk about psychologists such as Jordan Peterson? Back in the 1960's, the elites did not think of more wealth, more music, more sports, there is no way they thought that way in fact the elites would have done it back in 1960s as an experiment on the public!

All the elites agree that polytheistic talmudism is correct in their minds. What they fight over so much is when one elite is leftist and another elite is conservative, they will go back and forth over this and how to win overseas when pushing their beliefs on Muslims who will do anything to protect the land. The elites will say “no we want to push Christianity in the Middle East” or “no we want to push leftism in the Middle East” …… really no elite gets their way with this. But both in America, get their way, they get to be whatever political belief they want, and they can claim Christianity when they are not if it so suits their agenda.

There may be nothing sicker than the fact that because American elites cannot run the country, they pill their own citizens when a fight happens in the public, with friends, with family members. These American citizens I can show you that most of them, will never quit the flag, ever. The elites give the people they are entrusted with permanent mental illnesses labels, take away their guns, they lose friends, you know the list. Given how poor the education system is, the crime rate going up yearly, they say the other party will collapse the economy for good, the media trying to amp you up, many celebrities such as Joe Rogan are such jerks, starting protests for everyone to go to, so many concerts with drugs everywhere for people in their 20’s to abuse, social media influencers everywhere. They know all these medications and therapy does not resolve anything for most. American elites truly feel they have the right to do this to someone since who runs America knows there will never be this gigantic protest getting rid of the American government and trying brand new ideas to teach structure in America. The elites know that they will never need a draft for their military in the world today that if need be, Poland, France, Britain the usual has the extra troops if they ever needed to invade a foreign country, so the elites figure we don’t need a Vietnam style draft ever again, so we can have as many mentally ill citizens, they will never have to hold a gun ever, and as I have shown the elites have enough troops to do their bidding for them. The Vietnam style draft was only 60 years ago, the elites in that time has pushed the “mental illness” label on society so far in 60 years, impressive elites! That is the hatred of your citizens who will protect the country at all costs and will gladly vote for their politicians who they believe in.

What happened was that Presidents like FDR and Harry Truman did not care for the public in any way, they viewed you as their slave where every honorific title was for them and the other elites alone. In today’s world, the elites want to feel like they care about their slaves so what the elites do is purposely try to protect their slaves at all costs, they do this to get you to believe in their cause through “supporting the American flag/cause”. The elites only do this to help their cause succeed better and to “give back” to their slaves so the elites themselves feel like they are protecting the people they “care” most about so the elites can feel good inside like they are the heroes their slaves always wanted. Yet the elites’ slaves will still get nothing in the elites false Hereafter and will still be their slaves, maybe not “controlled” by them but will at the very least be told what they can and cannot do and what they are to think. This I refuse to give my take on.

These elites are such jerks, this is what they would do, they would read every woman’s diary in America, not only to find which ones they could laugh at, but more importantly to study their own women citizens. This is a good thing that women write diaries and they do not upload them to the Cloud which you can bet the NSA will gladly read. Yet I have shown, the elites want all their data and what they do as private as possible. Take for example Joe Rogan, he will talk forever about himself, but he will not talk at all about his family nor does his wife have any social media at all, seems he had found the wrong wife to get with or something. How low of him.

The elites rob women their gender claiming they are “bleeders” and “pregnant people” that a new “reality” has been discovered year 2015 or something that “gender does not exist” where the doctors must accept or lose their license. Then, the elites tell people that they are “bigots” if they do not support the transgender ideology that overwhelmingly supports this, the last thing you would want is for people to think you hate a “oppressed group” as the transgenders have been called by both the left and the right in America. Is there any person of any belief they will not try to use to further their agenda (transgenders) and is there any person be it male or female that they will not try to dehumanize in society?

It is crystal clear to me that elites write book after book on psychology, history, archeology, dialogue, religion, society, entertainment, economics etc. that anyone could understand where the elites decide which part of the books written can be applied to their lives/public image. Yet they make it your job to find the answers yourself with the colleges they provide you with through easy access student loans, these books are not for you, nor will they ever be, after all you have to be a “33rd degree freemason” to learn the freemasons “secrets” that you get as you work your way up. In fact, Bart Ehrman would love to talk to you about atheism, he’s got many books about atheism. I find this funny.

Because the elites want to keep crime so low and they want people to fry their brains, anytime you are caught with an amount of heroin you are let off. You have to pay for an expensive lawyer, but then you can just go back to doing heroin.

Imran Khan said to the U.N. speaking about Muslim women getting harassed for wearing a hijab in public that it happened after 9/11 and this is an injustice to Muslim women. Guess what Imran, the elites you are a part of shouldn't have done 9/11 the dumb donkey. Imran, you don't look for sympathy for something you helped cause. He's been an elite before office in 1995 to 2004 he was married to Jemima Goldsmith of the Goldsmith Talmudic family. So, during 9/11, he was an elite with clear insight of what was about to come. Why doesn't he apologize and say he didn't stand against 9/11? In Imran Khans mind just like the rest of the elites and their pawns, he's convinced he is a hero of some kind. What hero does 9/11 on his own pro American people? I can't tell if this is pathetic of them, or desperate.

One thing I noticed is that with celebrities and politicians who are clearly in on it, it is always the same elites doing the same things to destroy their own country. They do more and more of it through their social media or at speeches where they make headline after headline, then the other elites don't even bother to make the news or open a Twitter, how do you figure this that they either plug in an ample amount of work or really nothing at all for their false beliefs? Read all my posts, it is always the same names with different headlines! This makes the rest of us look like heroes where we are "all good" of people, as if we can do no wrong when we clearly know we can.

Whether elites are pushing protests such as blm to create hatred in society (I believe it is for many different reasons), it is largely irrelevant. Citizens of America want to be part of something historic, the politicians whether left or right will go along with this thinking everyone is made happy. Let's say the left protests for blm, well the American right they can have their own protests or "Donald Trump rallies", which there were so many when he was president I remember. Look at the crowds at the Trump rallies, they sell out every time now every politician who wants to be president does as many as the human capacity can possibly do without causing far too much stress on a person. What I am saying is, protests, rallies, will always work in America, they are not a phase or a generational thing by any means. Thanks to social media, local fans can easily spread the message out through Twitter to other locals in case they didn't know a politician was visiting locally.

I am sure some talmudist elites would say something like this to me "yes, we do push some horrific people on to society which we do not care about. However, we are in no way responsible for a guy like David Wood nor do we fund him in any way. We do not care about him or even get upset at anything he does or says. We cannot prevent a guy like this from getting famous on the internet no matter how hard we try to prevent a guy like this if we wanted to."

How smart is an elite to tell the Hollywood celebrities to stop doing everything about them unlike in 2004 and to share the fame with fans who share the same leftist beliefs as them? The Hollywood celebrities did not and probably to this day want to do this at all. But because the elites want everyone to be famous and have their voice heard as best as possible, it makes life seem so much better for people. Now there are so many more famous figures through the internet, everyone is happy with it, everyone wins including the celebrities they now have new purpose to hate the other political party. I wonder how someone would think to do something like this? Because people constantly want fame, their expectation of life is so high. It seems good for the elites and us people at the bottom, but it is dysfunctional because no one at the bottom is getting the attention they want through their social media. Social media gets worse and more vulgar since that is how to get like is to make a controversial statement, but they must keep finding new ways.

Here is another thing that hurts but we know it to also be true, when an elite gets cheated on or goes through a divorce, it hurts them in no such way, they care not in the slightest having gone through it. Often, they don't even get married where they leave the relationship after a few months. It gets so much worse, the elites televise their lawsuits of money taken illegally from the spouse where it goes on for at least 6 month we all hope not more (Johnny Depp). Where the spouse is being told that she um I won't use the words here but in involves what she did in their bed to protest him. Where this spouse cares not at all what she did here. They even have "reality" tv shows where the ex-wife trashes their husband all day long and if not they can just take it to Twitter which they will do as if their former husband is the worst person this world has ever seen with all of this ample evidence they reveal to the whole world. If the elites want, they can just not answer to the public about a divorce they went through by just saying "hey, she was great, but it didn't work out, I wish her well in life, she will be so successful in the future" where the gossip media the elites love so much will never ask about it again (unreal, the extremes here). However, when we Muslims go through a divorce or get cheated on, it hurts so much you not even know where no Muslim will ever go public about it ever.

Thankfully, a poll was done where 100% of Muslims in the UK do not support homosexuality at all where they never want to legalize it. Sam Harris talked about this study done at an event. At least, the UK Muslims got one thing right and I hope there is more where they got right! Tragically, the Muslims make up only 4.4% of the people in the UK meaning the elites have a monopoly over the homosexual agenda they push if not then a near monopoly.

The elites will flood all these different “pastors” to confuse all religious people, expect for more false evidence they will produce for Abrahamic faiths.

The elites got so smart here’s an example- Joe Rogan back in 2004 would insult mormons for hours for higher ratings. On his podcast today he says mormons are the “friendliest cult.” Joe wants to sound like he is full of wisdom to speak the “truth” about mormons. Also, does this make sense? The “friendliest cult”, a cult is something you would run away from! His viewers care not at all about this!

Freemasons get away with all this because they have no scripture, so they call you a “nutjob” for claiming they want a “third temple”. They also believe they are beyond good and evil. This is pathetic.

The elites knew how dangerous lying really is, but the schools will tell you “it’s no big deal.”

The elites claim to want your vote and your voice heard, yet they decide all the politicians, FDR said, “presidents are selected, not elected.”

When you look up “gender studies” on Google it is all feminism, these same elites are the ones trying to cancel women claiming women are “genderless”, make up your mind elites.

We have another person who is at my group home who claims to be a “god.” There must be so many people like this in America, yet the elites do zero polls on this knowing it will scare the public. We clearly have an epidemic of these kind of maniacs.

The reason why elites go to these high-class expensive colleges to study law or sometimes business, they do this to believe they are better than you, that’s the only reason. They don’t have to find the most expensive college ever to go to, they already have parents who taught them law and business as teens. Compare this to me, I didn’t agree with me going to college later because then I could call someone "college boy” to jeer at someone that I know I am int eh same IQ range as to say that “you’re the better person” when they think you are for going to an expensive college they didn’t need in any way.

The elites want to ruin you, so they claim injustice all day. The elites claim to be “oppressed” at their VMA shows when they are worth over 8 million dollars and they win an award so then you yourself think you are oppressed since you're a teen and you don't know better. Then, the elites respond to the claim of "oppression" by a fellow elite by saying that the elite winning a VMA is not "oppressed" in any way, this is done to try to make you lose hope in humanity since it is done all day long by both kinds of elites.

Take my word on this, the elites know exactly what they are doing sending David Beckham to Qatar for a few days to talk about his "perfection" trip at Qatar. They want you to love their "muslims" after telling you "muslims" were the enemy for so many years on Fox News talking about "islam". Seems they have given up on that given the headlines I have read the past two years on Fox News. They are working on your good intent and your willingness to get along with people of other faiths. The elites want you to have a connection with their people who do their bidding so you will never betray the elite's agenda that they told you to go along with.

This is how sick people really are, the elites blame the individual for suicide. I agree if someone with schizophrenia takes their life it would be on them, not society. However, if someone has traumas that someone else clearly caused and they take their life, who would you think is responsible?! Then the elites say, "more has to be done in mental health", instead of teaching their citizens ethics, typical elites.

It wouldn't matter if for instance you proved to someone you are sane and Islamic that you believe the faith. Later, let's say a year, people will turn on you and say you are "schizophrenic". That is taken seriously and now your faith is not. I don't forge this. You wonder how America was ever trusted for anything between court rulings, mental health evaluations, sex scandals the list goes on. It would only figure in America; their professionals tell you how long you stay at psych wards for your own health and safety. They clearly don't trust your own ruling on your health to decide that for a place they took you against your will since they didn't want to slander you in a court where you would go to jail for 20 years, nope instead you are insane for life! The elites are behind it nothing new here. I've never heard of Jacob Rothschild going to a psych ward, yet I am told these pills bring joy to life that none could possibly refuse. Our leader will not go to one, odd.

I just realized this, what would I check off for marital status? My marriage isn't recognized because I don't want it to be and have to go to court for a divorce. If I check single, that's a lie. If I check in a relationship. I guess that could be right, but that implies boyfriend girlfriend. I wonder if elites schemed this so I cannot check a box of "marriage not recognized by government".

People will not accept the joy life brings so they will wish for more thinking more is better. They are taught to by the elites who market through capitalism/consumerism.

The elites are guilty of perjury with all these misleading political stories where the elites hide details from the public and for instance playing dumb with what would happen during the Capital Hill Riots, or George Bush lying about WMD’S in Iraq the list goes on.

When the public feels the injustice is higher, the more the public will react by rallying behind their team. It is common sense. The elites want more and more injustice to get the public to react. This is one reason why mental health issues will go higher and higher in America.

The elites don’t even need the public to pledge allegiance to America in public schools anymore since the public believes they are “neutral” one everything. This allows for America to start wars and blame other countries, embarrassing. That’s why Fox News talks about how the left wants to get rid of all patriotism because the left can do that. The wars would still go on if the left had their way. It’s just that America couldn’t fund a war so the elites would fund a revolution, the elites would still win, unreal of the elites to do.

All this Jordan Peterson material is so dangerous for society. We will have all these men talk about problems they don’t have and will talk about their emotions which will make them become not much like men any more in society. This will get out of hand fast. This could cause the number of men talking about mental health problems to skyrocket and will have men claiming mental health issues at around 70%. An elite is probably behind this. Why is Jordan Peterson talking about how people have to hear a kind word from someone? All the people I meet only want to talk about what is relevant or about themselves. They don’t want to hear a kind word. He could not be more wrong about this. He’s making a fool out of himself.

The elites want power first and that is found in their third temple. Because the elites cannot just give money to the public and make everyone rich where their third temple comes about, what they do instead is have celebrities like Lizzo who has all this wealth who talk about being overweight as a good thing that you too can make it too where Lizzo wants to make an overweight person feel good inside. The elites want to prop you up knowing you will crash.

All the elites want is for you to believe America is either the greatest country in the world or the worst and that Scandinavia has all the answers.

Andrew Tate got banned from all social media because he spoke out against covid policy and Ukraine, he played it like it was because of his views towards women and depression making no such mention in interviews. Andrew Tate is an elite playing his fans for a fool.

When the elites try to make their citizens famous like in Dubai all it does is ruin their citizens character time and time again. Being rich is not a good thing. It makes their citizens believe they really are that amazing.

The elites find people with massive insecurities or will do anything for fame and then the elites exploit them to have them tell others how to live their lives through social media and news outlets.

The elites are so smart they try to make groups like blm so upsetting to talk about so then when you don't talk about it you are seen as someone who doesn't want good for others in society. Then you get all these accusations. Then you have Candace Owens to back you up to rally you, it is all a trainwreck.

Do you notice how with the Iranian protests it is the same countries commenting against the Iranian regime claiming they want freedom for the Iranians? It is as if the elites want protests, nothing new. Meanwhile, we get more accusations of hating women, going against human rights, and freedom.

Back in 2006 the government didn't want you to know anything about what went on behind the scenes, now they want you to know everything. The government didn't want you to know the enormous wealth elites have. The government didn't want you knowing what went on in Iraq and why they wanted to invade. Compare that to Syria, they want you knowing every detail about why they want to invade. I've talked about this before, they didn't trust your judgement, now they do in full.

It's become clear the elites want everyone offended in society. It used to be white males now it's everyone.

The elites found how to turn it on you they claim you are mentally ill and bigoted if you don't support their leftists or republican agenda. Leftists and republicans are mentally ill, but in society you are mentally ill for being against it. This also violates freedom of religion and speech in America.

The elites want you fighting everything viewed as an injustice no matter how small, that will cause a revolution of some kind constantly being reminded of all this injustice in society.

The elites are trying to see what this does having young boys use girl toys under the lie of "tolerance", we don't know what this does to a society, this is brand new I think it started 5 years ago. We haven't seen how these young boys act when they reach their 40s. It could be anything. This is proof they use Americans as experiment, they are sick without words.

Jacob Rothschild knows he's not the seed of Abraham, but he doesn't care he wants power that's why he picked Talmudism. He helped Israel get far enough to convince their citizens they are living in biblical prophecy when he knows that is a lie. He has to keep propping up this false religion because their citizens would leave knowing it is a lie.

Because the Jews, freemasons, and catholics don't care and have trust in their god for victory, they don't care about their own suffering knowing they've ruined the earth. This would be the exact opposite of life being sacred like Genesis says. They don't value life at all. They want to keep hurting themselves in the hope of injustice to the highest extent it can go. What makes it insane too is the Jews recite the Torah, it's not like they read the Talmud all day, it would be like when Muslims memorize the Quran the Muslims then go out and the guys marry each other. Shouldn't Jews have some sort of sensor that goes off in their brain reminding them of what they were raised with? On a separate subject, I'm aware their goal for activism is to give you purpose, but all they want is more confusion, more division in the earth. Nothing they do has your best interest. They want you to give up on Allah, they've planned this since 1920 I think beginning with Vladmir Lenin. Even if they didn't go in hiding, it would be clear they don't want you to trust God's plan when Islam is the opposite of what they are preaching where the Jews want to end the earth. Any religious practice Muslims do, they insult it and challenge if it is moral or not like the hijab.

Pope Francis called Catholics racist. Two things, one that you have a life, you don't have the time to change who you are if you are a racist so Pope Francis will keep demanding new ways to prevent this but provide no such solution. Two and more importantly, being called a racist is a serious accusation, that is saying that for instance if a black person was drowning in a well you would do nothing to try to save his life. Is this someone who can lead people in religion, or better yet should Catholicism be taught if all it produces is racists?

Amber Heard please be 40 now. We don't want to hear from you anymore, thank you. No matter what she does, she will always be a Catholic at heart. She has been committed to Catholicism every waking minute of her life. Richard Dawkins will never call her out for her antics, but he's quick to attack us Muslims for every breath we take.

With exception to Jews in Israel, countries that support Israel their troops are stupid. Israel allies itself with people who don't know anything at all. Us Muslims provide every truth we can to our citizens, we don't want them being dumb. Israel needs to ally themselves with the dumb, any non-Jew would be sane and rational enough not to support them knowing not only will Jews corrupt the earth, what they do will never work. Funny how the dumb have to do all the work like with the Iraq War, there were no Jewish soldiers. For some reason I think the Jews, Catholics, and Freemasons, will join in on this madness out of stupidity and finally stop scheming before end times. These historically sick people will become dumber than what their books describe to us as meaning below cattle. It would be the justice best served; you couldn't ask for a better scenario. Only time will tell.

Lauren Southern is a special one that I have video of her saying she is a nationalist and loves everything culture. She trashes our generation, then moves from Canada to Australia probably for the nice weather, then she bores a kid out of wedlock with a tan Asian man and she is now catholic. This is someone who the online media wants to challenge what I believe. It would help if I knew what she believed first.

Some guy tried claiming Buddhism has all the answers and Catholicism is indoctrination. He then claimed Mosques discriminate against women because the women pray in the back. Here is what is wild, in Buddhism they have gay marriage ceremonies where they dress up and they have photos they share on the internet about it. Nobody forces women to pray in a Mosque, if that is an injustice, what would the buddhist gay marriage ceremony be? They shove it in your face for you to accept. Who is this guy to say, this is unjust this isn't etc.? Does he not take into consideration what bothers most of humanity? If you ask someone which is more difficult to accept, almost no one will say they would rather have a gay buddhist marriage ceremony right next to their house than a Mosque where women pray in the back. But because terrorists hide in Islam that's why people don't want Mosques. Terrorism has ruined our perception of things about what makes us upset on this earth, our priorities are messed up. I can't speak on this because I'm Muslim since there is obvious bias here, but I know which neighbor I would rather have.

There was a 29-year-old Catholic worker who has worked in the mental health field for 5 years, he noticed that in one of my books, there is a short thing about Muhammad could not have slept with his wives all in one night because of how long the prayers are since they can last for hours. He made a face of somewhat of shock and I know he got nothing out of it later, ugh.

What person would even ponder to ask this question that a catholic priest who is not only law abiding but is also giving most of his time back to the public is inside a truly sick individual who hides religion and wants your eternal suffering for his power? If you had pitched me this without any evidence just as a question, I would seriously wonder not if you were actually crazy but that you wanted attention for no reason at all to make a bold statement or something about how someone could be sick, and you didn't know it, but you had picked a catholic priest for no reason at all.

Putin says Stalin was a "complex figure" and that attacking Stalin is what Russia's enemies do. This means Putin is a Freemason to support his fellow brother.

I need to talk to a professor at a college whose expert is ethics and morality, not some idiot on the internet like David wood who claims to be a philosopher to get more views. My question is if it is normal to donate all your money to Palestine and not a dime to the youth of America the country you live in, the country that made it possible for you to donate the money. Is there a written rule of life to care for your people first instead of talking about how great people are halfway across the world and you talk about how great their cause is? Part of this is you should never give up on the country that raised you no matter what, but what I'm trying to get at is so much deeper than that to say to America, I hate you that you are not welcome nor needed is what I would be doing. This is me and plenty of other people who believe God runs the whole earth, I don't think God would want people to fail because the country is freemason.

If people started as cavemen and they couldn't do anything right, a God could have brought them to knowledge and understanding of life. That's not unrealistic, no freemason historian can answer how one day cavemen woke up and learned how to read and write. I'm aware they try to deny Adam, they are still giving you their perspective writing it off as fact.

How to do something really mean, make a portrait for your wall of a freemason gathering while uploading to facebook the truth about them. I think you know what I am getting at. This is dangerous though because it may anger you seeing it.

In 1913 the Rothschilds were worth 2 billion total

A talmudist said "we killed Jesus and we are proud of it." The only way someone can kill someone and get away with it is by claiming to be religious. You can't kill black people, but you can kill as many brown people as you want. Does Donald Trump sound familiar here?

The talmudists were convinced God was on their side having conquered the land from the Palestinians and they have the united talmudic land they wanted for thousands of years. Now what is happening with the world being on the internet is that they are being abused so hard. I have to wonder if any of them question maybe God isn't on our side that now the world sees we use American troops to conquer the land for us? Both the Muslims and the talmudists are losing but the talmudists are losing far more because the Jews have been promising their false messiah was going to come since Israel's creation it's been over 70 years. Do the talmudists have to wait another 400? Both sides are going to feel awful inside that the whole world hates you. This will end very badly in the future, not sure how many generations until it does all you see is insults thrown back in forth on the internet from both sides. I can't see the big picture here, maybe 10 years from now I will, but I am very concerned how this will end.

I just saw in Family Guy they had a 3rd grade character called "Omar first tower". I don't know if that is worse than Kyle's talmudic dad being a sue happy lawyer, I find it amazing people get away with this stuff because they are cartoons, and the writers say that it is just a parody show. If they could, the writers would push material out further than one could imagine. Do you notice how they just slip it in? As long as the show has a plot, they get away with it. They must have some science behind it that if the whole show was like this then people would take serious offense to it. I don't know which of these was more offensive, but it will cause a reaction in almost anyone. I think there is a list of the most offensive things on this earth, and I have seen two of them.

If you watch the news, you will think most people hate Muslims. There is hatred of Muslims as with any religious community yes higher than Christians for instance, but it is nowhere near what the media portrays. The country all people from around the world all different kinds, they hate Israel. If you want to go to Israel, you have to be searched for 3 hours after you get off of the plane, they don't trust anyone of any race or any religion. The talmudists of today need a country. The only nations of people who like Israel and Israel trusts them are South Koreans (for sure), South Africans (I think), India Hindus (for sure), Australia (maybe) and that's it. The whole world does not hate Muslims, in Africa Muslims and Christians are at peace. The only countries I can think of that hates Muslims is India and Poland. People may hate Muslim countries, but they can still go to them and not be harassed. People don't like Muslims and that's fine, they don't hate them.

There was a lady at a psych ward who was talmudic, she accused everyone there of being white supremacists and school shooters. She doesn't do anything for the earth. Is that part of talmudism? I would like to know this.

There might be no cap on how crazy the world can be when there are people that would cry out if Israel failed and they will say "we have to protect the Jewish children and the only Jewish state!" Ma'am, you USE them to get your “third” temple. Why are you now weeping when all you talk about is yourself and how everyone, but you are evil?

A lot of Zionists in a video by Corey Gil-Shuster seem to only want to be your friend and don’t care if you are neutral in any way towards their Zionist country. This would be the exact opposite of 1919-1945 where Jews wanted only to hurt you at the cost of their own mental health entering a crisis. Granted these Zionists have I believe 30% who truly want to harm Palestinians with no reason whatsoever.

Three years after four years of a near genocide, starvation, torture the Zionists create a nation and are in a war with the Arabs. The Zionists win the war. This is absurd, what makes it so absurd is that they won. This is the single most incredible story of perseverance ever. Where are all the movies made about this war?

No matter what sick people not us sinners do, they will keep doing these sick things and they will hold onto religious books as if the religious book was written by their false god for them alone and no one else. As if there are no Prophets in it and their book can only be translated and explained by them alone. I’m not making this up at all, this is how sick people think where if they lived 100 years instead of 80, not only would they get even worse, but the thought would also never cross their minds to be a decent individual. We can go even further, an infinite amount of time would correct their behavior at all, no books or friends or anything will change this, and we don’t know how or why. One of these sick people made a face so scared talking to me before the sermon when I visited his catholic center, I was already messaging him daily because I was going to talk about Palestine, and he didn’t know until much later. This guy is now pressing every charge against me possible, claiming to be a victim of some sort despite being a half-retired cop where he can easily defend himself and the courts go along with it. One of the clerics even smirked when I told this judge as to why we left that I would basically reveal what this catholic deacon lied about knowing this is all fraudulent. Yes, this is seriously how America is run where no one supports the American cause and awe all just use the country for our own gain no matter what faith we are. Since there are laws of life, countries are not to be used for personal gain, especially the courthouses. This is what America has become just watch the capitol hill hearing that go on and on where the people want attention to further their political name, so they stand before judges to talk about their “concern” they have for “America’s future.” When either Democrat or republican doesn’t get their president, they are going to take it to the streets I promise. The counter protestors will be there to spare at each other where it will get so terrible yes, many people will die from it. All your friends will warn you saying, “do not go, do not go!” holding you back but you fight them off and go anyways as if the countries need you so badly to go since the President you cannot have is the exact opposite of what you believe being republican or democrat. There will be screams and screams at the protest, parents will call the cops to find their 18-year-old sons, but they cannot be found anywhere. Just look at the capitol hill protests it lasted 6 hours, four had died from the event…… this will last for days and days. In fact, Donald Trump himself at the rally next to it said, “if you do not fight like hell, you will not have a country anymore” and “take back our country”. Crafty, Donald Trump.

Mark Levin is a talmudist who writes books, he’s an America “conservative”, he’s 64, he has a JD in political science, he’s very well known. He’s seen America a country he truly loves to get out of hand by the control the catholics, freemasons, and the talmudists have. He could not have foreseen where it had gone further and further what was once the three groups’ ideas. I can’t put this in words, what this is doing to him and the message he gets. What seemed good by the three groups where both leftist and conservative agreed on is now backfiring. Mark cannot hold back his anger in interviews, and he is being told by the elites to calm down. Believe me, his anger is not fake for views, it’s actual anger.

Freemasons since its beginning whenever it was during history allow all their followers in provided, they believe in at least one entity. This shows freemasons believe there is more than one entity that exist. They accidentally exposed their beliefs that they know they are fighting Allah himself since Islam could not be more against freemasonry. What also bothers me so much is that they tell their followers and the public that they have made this truly amazing discovery about life and so much more being that there is many gods and infinite to explore in life……. Yet they have nothing to show for years now, nobody even cares what they put out. I don’t ever think talmudists think this way maybe a few cases, with catholics I am not so sure of but with freemasons they keep doing stuff like this with protest after protest. The talmudists try to prop up the earth as a trick, but inside they know the truth. I trust that a lot of cardinals, for instance looking at their photos and way they dress, they know the truth, they aren’t in a serious delusion.

Do you notice how no politician in America will for instance tell the mormons or a Christian denomination that he does not want their support at all where the Mormons for instance overwhelmingly support him, yet inside he would tell them that and if he did, he would be labeled a “bigot” or “religious nutjob” of some kind. There have been presidents that have felt this way.

America tries to get rid of hatred of religious groups by canceling people who speak out against another belief. America has religious freedom; we can hate any belief we want it is constitutional. What makes this even worse for America is they let south park made the book of mormon to mock mormons, yet the creators of the show aren't canceled nor are any comedians so how does America pick and choose who can hate or what defines it?

Mikhaila Peterson in an interview about how she feels towards the Islamic faith said, "I am not very educated in religion". That is a lie. It is disguised as some sort of humble truth, could her catholic mom and her potentially genius father not get the message of religion across to her? Why would you give your opinion towards religion in several videos that so many people wanted to watch which were over hours of deep discussion? If she can't or won't educate herself on religion, she should not have a YouTube channel to push her dad's beliefs and I am amazed that she could graduate college with a degree in biology (very hard to get). She even said in 2021 that she became religious, but she cannot understand religion? I don't believe this at all.

What makes the freemasons, catholics, and talmudists so sick is that they seriously believe we do and injustice to own people and we want nothing more than to use and torture our own citizens in some way for pursuit of our own power and control over our citizens we have to protect as if there is some damning evidence against us when these groups lie about Syria using sarin gas on their own citizens as an example. These groups use this lie as proof that we can never be trusted to run a country and it will never work unless it is under these groups control, then peace will be achieved for the citizens of Syria when we know it to be the opposite. We have life so difficult, yet these groups' leaders have life so easy, yet they try time and time again to wreck us with false evidence of a serious flaw in our characters that we cannot be trusted. It is no secret it is difficult for us to watch what happens to Syria for instance, the groups know this, we know this, it is a fact by now that the public has accepted. In fact, they can keep trying to tank the image of Islam through their wahhabism tactic, it will never affect them, but it will always affect us. They can genocide their own American people that they support so much, they will not feel it in any way. How truly sick must these people really be.

Does this make any sense to you when you think about it? A catholic clergy will molest a child, figuring that when they grow up, they can become a clergy too and get in on the power that catholics believe they get with the third temple. The catholics know that yes molesting a child will wreck someone when they grow older in life, the catholics allow for that adult for instance to commit adultery every week if they must cope with the suffering they have so long as they keep catholic and they aspire for the power they both think they are getting. Meaning all catholics can think about being so traumatized is power. That means your false religion only cares about power alone, no laws at all when the Bible itself warns that you must have laws or else you could end up dead in many ways. Meaning, they caused someone's death that could have been easily prevented having molested the person as a child. The catholics care so much about power, yet they will not cut this sick practice of theirs out having no reason at all to keep doing it on children in masses where it would benefit catholics and their pursuit of power to stop doing this sick practice as a whole. The only thing I can come up with is that the catholics do this as a tool to end the earth, yet it is not working to end the earth and make people lose hope, yet the catholics swear by it as probably the most important aspect of their false religion. Is it not enough they lie to the public, promote lgbt, have their pope meet people like Elon Musk, control most of the world's media, take religion out of schools the list goes on?

The mistake that most Christians make in America and all catholics worldwide make is that they confuse peace with tolerance. You are a peaceful person if you hate someone who is not tolerant of you and wishes you to suffer, this is called protecting yourself. You don't extend your support to someone who wants nothing more than to see you fail in life. These Christians and all catholics who extend their support to people like these are tolerant of all people of the earth. To obtain peace, a group of people may need to be persecuted from the land, yet these Christians and all catholics condemn such an action from a Muslim leader who does this.

A staff at a group home (catholic) who studied psychology he has a 4-year degree in the field said anyone can change (nope). The staff thinks incels are these huge victims that only want the best for everyone in society (huh?). The staff told me that an incel can talk about anything incel related provided the female staff is willing to talk about it when it is part of her job to counsel a guy like that for a paycheck at a group home (this would be harassment for both men and women alike to have to listen to). The staff as we both know could be mocked so easily where every time an incel makes the news, you bring it up to the staff and the staff says, "nope that's not what being an incel is about" since the staff gives full legitimacy to the incel movement meaning all incels have his support provided they do not make the news, clearly the staff won't quit on them, not sure if ever (scary). The incels put women in two extreme categories of (slut) or an (attention whore) where they call the (attention whore) a "6/10" not to compliment the (attention whore) but to show some sort of serious character flaw in the (attention whore), the (attention whore) even hides her “true ambitions” of wanting to be the “attention whore”. The two extremes of women are called “the stacy” and “the becky”, “the stacy” is the (slut). No ideology in the whole would seriously believe there are two types of women, and they are both extremes, the least you will find is 4 types of women (as if this isn’t an obvious insult towards all women of the earth, then the staff will tell you “This will change in the future, the incels will improve off of this mistake”, seriously? If this could not get any scarier, the incels have provided 6 descriptions of the (slut), one of them clearly implies the (slut) wants to have sex with every man the (slut) sees but the incels where clearly all the incels want to have sex with the (slut) to bring this up about the (slut). I have a message to incels, why do you have these goofy cartoons of men and women you don’t like in society, are you 6 years old? This is the way you get your message to reach the world to become incels? I get that it is to mock the women you incels are drawing, but to act “professional” about it, seriously? Some of your incels may not be able to know the cartoons are not for parody of women where the cartoons are to be taken seriously. The staff thought the Comedy Central- The Jim Jefferies Show “Hey incels, woman do not owe you anything” of telling incels that they are not special enough to have any woman they choose while trashing all women, the staff said that the videos was “insulting towards incels” (so incels are protected by this guy from criticism or even a wakeup call? Worst of all, the video was medium sarcastic insults I listen to a good amount of comedy. Mind you, Jim Jefferies is a “comedian” and the video seems more like a wakeup call for incels if anything). The staff thought this HBO- “This is what the life of an Incel” that the guy being interviewed wants nothing more than help and to raise awareness for incels to get help (the opposite, listen to the music they play in the background how concerning this really is). The incel in it lies when asked if incels are violent and says that all incels such as himself are “meek” (what?). If you want even more scary material, watch Jubilee- “I am an incel. Ask me anything.” Where this guy who is very socially awkward joins being an incel and wants to defend all incels everywhere thinking that guys should willingly be an incel since it is a trustworthy movement in his mind. He gets asked 8 minutes’ worth of questions by women, some of which he could possibly defend no matter what, yet he never gets angry or even that discouraged to have to answer a serious question about what he has joined, I am guessing he is still an incel to this day. This incel sounds all humble and talks about societal benefits from being an incel, I could see why he would want to be an incel given the way he looks, dresses etc. in the video. The incel in this has no care at all to ever get a woman; yet wants to defend incels who would use him to no end. You are more than approved for every benefit possible if you are an incel. Incel is an extremist movement where the incel believes if they had the woman they wanted, all the problems of the world will be resolved. Because the incel doesn't have the woman, then all the problems of the world are caused on this and the incel feels he must degrade all people of the world that are not incels, perhaps even do much worse than that to society. This staff is plenty willing to be friends with an incel, they must take in incels at group homes. To be called an incel is not a bad thing to the staff (never). It is a stereotype to claim that an incel to shoot up a school. He doesn't believe the statistics at all. Incels do not have books on the "incel ideology", motivational speakers, outreach to 18-year old's including females to be a part of the incel movement (I would hope not that), to claim that incels want to go public and that incels would want nothing but good for society, here is my challenge to all incels reading this to do this list for your incel movement. They claim incels are expressing themselves where they overlook incels are racist, yet they always condemn racism, it can't be both. In this example, women clearly have fewer human rights. How come incels can say all these things about women but if you were to say these kinds of things against talmudists then everyone agrees you are a bigot of some kind? I guess women don't matter. I'm speechless, something I could never imagine happening being on the internet in 2008 where women were treated much differently. Incels are racist because they want to get worse, incels don't care that they have less members because of being racist yet incels play victim (sad, unreal). There was a video of a guy that viewed himself as an incel and was interviewed by HealthyGamerGG, he just agrees with the incel movement, HealthyGamerGG spent over 1 hour and 30 minutes, in the thumbnail the incel is smiling so is HealthyGamerGG (sick). In fact, this incel cries in the video (strange), but he doesn't seem to take HealthyGamerGG's serious support he is giving him. Nowhere in Riversides website does it say that incels or antifa are allowed, but they make very clear that at a group home you cannot be in any kind of racist organization, meaning they cannot understand what a terrorist organization is. In fact, one of the guys who is mentally ill who is well educated who gets along with maybe anyone in society, he and I laughed when talking about incels awhile back (go figure, even the mentally ill find incels pathetic). This is clear proof that incels will never be viewed as mental illness by society, despite the fact someone claiming to be an incel was interviewed by HealthyGamerGG that has almost 1 million subscribers, most if not all people in the comments are telling this incel to get some sort of help that he is mentally ill.

This is directed to the freemasons, talmudists, catholics, make up your mind, pick a direction. Do not build up the earth, have fellow cult members try to destroy your American country that you claim you love so much. Do not keep trying to seem like you are the voice of reason and that everyone in American society no matter what they believe even if they defect should have their voice heard and is not “mentally ill” in any way. All because you trust what you do, yet you are always the voice of reason or your president you support must be the leader the world needs as you claim. You want all these laws in society where the police are supported since you are in “blue lives matter” but you support all protests against cops as “freedom” thinking you are in the right here (pathetic). You claim to be the hero in society or the humble guy image you have where all you want is democracy in society, that’s your only expectation for America. YOU do not care in one way about anyone or anything but your own stupid image which you think your false god will always have your back for no matter what.

Even today if you told people that the catholic clergy is trying to end the world, people will look at you like you are crazy.

What catholics are being taught is through loving thy neighbor and accepting people as tolerance, it will make you a better person and make you live a happier life. I couldn’t disagree more with this. What happens is they become more and more tolerant of whatever insanity people do and they allow it as a norm in society. It will make their lives miserable. The catholic church is setting up their followers to fail in life. They teach this in mental health too.

The freemasons, talmudists, catholics have no scripture to back up their claim a god exists. They claim no such scripture exists since they don’t believe in scripture. I can only conclude they are lying to me about a god existing. Would help if they didn’t mock scripture in their countries.

Because this is deemed a “generalization” of catholics, wahhabs, freemasons, talmudists etc., it all gets overlooked by the public. Meaning they can get away with anything. This isn’t viewed as “hate speech”, but “bigoted material”. You can never warn their followers because it seems like there is a “global conspiracy”, yet we know what really goes on about how they get away with anything. It is seen as a “generalization” to say, “their followers think this way.” Yet I don’t think you need more evidence on how their followers and leaders think. People in today’s world are just too sensitive. Yes, I am saying all these people are duped by their masters.

Catholics have never been offended once. They have never protested how they get mocked daily in America. Nothing has gotten under their skin. They still hold to their “love thy neighbor”. It would have failed them by now is what I am saying.

The talmudists want you to talk about them because they think they are right reminding you that yes there are attacks on them. So, if you hate them, they are hoping you type a comment about them that is bigoted for them to repost on their social media. This gets worse, plenty of them know they are cringe and other talmudists hate them, but they want you hate them as well. When you hate the cringe talmudist and you talk about him or her, that cringe talmudist then says, “look at the hate I get for being jewish”, this means talmudism is everything. Not one of the talmudist leaders say, “this has nothing to do with our religion”. Look at Ben Shapiro, he will say for the cringe talmudists “I hate so and so” but he will never say that is not part of the talmudic faith. They have no care in the world that there are many followers within their beliefs that are trying to end the earth through terrible ideas. Typical.

Do you know how genius the talmudists must be that they hate Pastor Steven Anderson knowing he has exposed them, and he used the Bible to show what they do, yet they found a way to market him through news outlets and Alex Jones interviews knowing he will keep going out and getting more hate? The cops are taught not to target him ever though he thinks the cops are targeting him yet if the cops did, they would close his church down for good that you can watch his sermons for free on the internet. Because Pastor Steven Anderson does not like Muslims at all, he in no way harasses them, this looks better for the talmudists to show that Muslims and Christians can never be friends in any country as proof of what goes on in America. He has been banned from over 9 countries, yet the talmudists will never shut down his church and the talmudists push all the time that “it’s his freedom as an American citizen.” I find this unreal.

If some leader in Boko Haram were to pitch to me that Boko Haram is needed for society, it “helps islam”, we need child soldiers to win when we do not want any, Nigeria is failing this is the only hope, the Christians will attack first, this is a far better cause than ever protesting in Palestine, the talmudists may be funding us but we need the support (when you clearly work for them), society will enter a near utopia if boko haram is ever to win, you are the hero, you have done your faith well, you will always be remembered, just one of these things I have listed, I would look at a boko haram leader like that with such a face to try that on a guy like me that has them all figured out how the recruit innocent 18 years old. It would figure groups like these targets the youngest they can possibly get probably knowing the men in their 30’s are smart enough to never join.

Remember that if you post material exposing freemasons for instance in public and you are teasing them and calling them all these names, it will be taken down from the internet because the internet such as Google views material like this as “bullying” and “harassment.” Which means they are free from all criticism given that they live in America and if ever someone were to call them out and expose them, Google will protect them no matter what from the influx of messages they will get calling them all these names for snapping and finally telling the truth to you with their cult. As if Google doesn't have enough of a monopoly being that they control your searches deciding what comes up when you are researching material and what news articles to show you. What I am saying is that there is no limit to their control over the internet. Isn't it odd how there is not one prank channel on YouTube that attacks freemasons?

I wonder if there could seriously be a bigger waste of time since I would far rather be at a psych ward in my bed provided the roommate is ok. I would far rather do this than go to weekly freemason ceremonies that I had thought I made this great discovery that would benefit the whole earth. I watched some of the ceremony on YouTube, it really makes you wonder when someone quits for good at what "freemason level" they are at. You also must dress up in a suit and tie every time with that bib you have on near your private parts. Remember too that you already got all their secrets off of books before signing up from former 33rd degree freemasons, meaning there would be no reason to work your way up being that you already got the end goal of what the freemasons give out, yet you still think this ranking of yours matter. None of these changes the fact that the freemason leaders stole $200 from you for your entry fee, that's what a cult would do.

We had the youngest 33rd degree freemason who always believes an injustice is done to him at a psych ward. He flashed horns at someone who tried to cause permanent damage to him (like it isn't obvious enough what freemasonry is). He speaks all day of what he thinks is "theology" it all becomes distorted when you talk to him, he's all over the place with his beliefs and he keeps adding more and more material. This is exactly what Islam warns of during End Times.

The reason why we are opposites and why we clash so much with the freemasons, catholics and talmudists is because Islam teaches freedom. However, the freemasons for instance have their own understanding of freedom that you can eat raw food all day for example, if I claim this is disgusting and immoral, I am viewed as a "bigot" for being against someone disgusting me eating raw food. Because the freemasons think a false god is on their side, they will always think they are right when it comes to anything. Why do you think freemasons have incels in their country and they do nothing about it? Incel is a very American concept like baseball or apple pie. I don't make this stuff up; people are that dumb.

One of the sick tactics they try is that the freemasons will say "you are not my enemy, and I am tolerant of you" when you know that yes, they are your enemy not only domestic but foreign. They do this to try to make you forget the genocide they do around the world and the terrible things they do to people like promoting lgbt and they want you to go along with it knowing you have kids that can be influenced by their sick beliefs. All they do is try every method possible to win you over no matter what insult you give them they will not stop ever. If all that fails that they try on you and they finally give up, they call you “mentally ill” for life. A way to tease them is to say “I will never give up on you bro” when you clearly have and they never wanted to give up on you for life, just shove it back at them. This form of teasing is proof that the Muslims no doubt will find the ways to throw the stones back at the freemasons. Instead of getting mad, they may smirk instead which I without a doubt wish for a Muslim brother.

This is directed to anyone who is so awful there are not words such as the incels, mentally ill, hardcore leftists, far right, freemasons, radical feminists, do you EVER take breaks? Where do you have an hour of doing nothing? I know you collect the welfare and go on the internet all day long to message a guy like me. Is doing nothing but flaring to the best of your ability stressful on you? It sure sounds like this is how you live. Yet they still manage fine, but I am confident at least a portion of them complain all day long and are unbearable when their takeout comes 5 minutes late through Door Dash. If this is the case, congratulations to you, you are the only person throughout all of history who was able to turn a computer or smartphone into your life thinking it was you. I have already seen some in my life who are mentally ill at waiting units and psych wards where they try all day long to get attention from anyone to get their thrill out of it or I don’t know what by that point.

It is deemed antisemitic to claim the zionists are not ethnically Jews we found this out after Kyrie Irving posted a movie link from Amazon. Mind you the link didn’t even claim they came from Khazaria so you will be viewed as more of an antisemite for explaining the truth. They want to suspend Kyrie Irving because the elites want black people to feel more justified that when they get their voice out who believe that they are the 12 Lost Tribes of Israel, that they are persecuted. Shaq (freemason) talks about how it is hate speech where it has no place in the league, how does he decide this? Shaq, am I wrong on religion? Can we sit down and talk?

I should get catholic priests to wash my feet just for the ones who think I will be their slave forever to watch them doing it to laugh at them.

It’s not that zionists don’t have all the facts it’s that they don’t accept them I know it seems common sense to say but think deep on it the facts aren’t for them they want their own reality.

Being Islamic would mean they no longer have a nation, and they would go back to Europe since they are not Arab.

There’s no such thing as peace for the zionists they have their own version. They don’t want to give up half of their country and they want to fund Hamas who wants to be a one state. They will tell you that you don’t want peace that the Palestinians will violate it without any evidence. Without Hamas the zionists can’t call us terrorists. Once they stop funding Hamas then I will know they’ve made an effort of some sort for peace, can’t win.

Saying a certain democrat or republican is racist because of what they say, or their policies is 100% irrelevant because we the public will never know what goes on behind the scenes and whose ideas are just so bad or they have just gone so deep in their ideology that they have become racist and not known it.

I think most don’t realize that the talmudists don’t worship Allah and instead worship a false god. Then you have to factor in all of the talmudists unaware of the fact that most zionists are unaware of what their government believes that Muhammad is the final Prophet that Judaism isn’t correct. Their own government hides their beliefs from their own people.

Here’s a dark truth almost all these political commentators like Steven Crowder talk about how great America is and how he supports America’s troops, but he will never fight a war for America, that’s your job he’s superior to you, he would be the first to draft dodge. Steven is the “good guy”, he’s not one of the billionaires and he supports America, they tell me.

HIPAA or NSA one has to go, we have to take your data then hide it later, can this get worse?

In most of the world, the death penalty is illegal, this is done to cancel our Lord.

When you say the talmudists will be led by the Antichrist they call it antisemitism so you can’t even speak against the zionists to warn. Even saying they have no religion is considered delegitimizing the zionists they say but they are the same people who a portion of them claim atheist. I have sources for this material, people like Shaq claim to respect me but then they say I am a bigot, I’m not Islamic, and I need help I guess I am not good enough for him.

If a country isn’t retentionist in today’s world you would know they are not Muslim and are hiding their talmudic beliefs.

They tell you that you are an extremist of some kind when you tell someone they don’t listen to anything you tell them over serious issues like lgbt.

America raises their youth to believe they must accept gay marriage and gender roles.

I hate it when a freemason says “we are always learning hey maybe my religious beliefs are wrong” there’s no hope in you. You will leave it for another religion that hides the third temple and supports gay marriage. You picked a belief system that gives away all secrets. You’re not still learning by 25. At what age will you get it? 80?

They want to get rid of all shame in society such as doing drugs, that’s not going to go well. We’ve already seen it has made more addicts and more freaky behavior in society. Get ready elites for how your 18-year-old son or daughter turns out once the schools can’t babysit them anymore.

They let you believe what you want as a catholic, but they won’t tell you what they believe until you get to the way top.

When Facebook came out it was seen as revolutionary. Today we have found out that people who were friends in high school and college lose contact regardless of. Facebook was supposed to keep you in touch and network to make new friendships, not only does it not do that but as I have shown nobody needs it, it didn’t improve anyone’s life. It is just a website used for getting praise from people. You will never be around again on the earth.

At a psych ward, there was a lady clearly thriving off being there and all day she would walk up to you calling you a white supremacist school shooter. She knew when she lied to me when I asked her a question about what she claimed I said previously where we disagreed over if she said it or not, take my word for it. You could see her smiling the whole day. When I reported her to the psychiatrist he was dead convinced that she was maniac during her stay there the whole time. This clown psychiatrist cannot identify the difference between manic and cynical. How much more money does he need to make until he understands the difference?

One thing the freemasons love to do is lie about history but tell many truths in other areas, they still won’t confuse me.

I met a wahhab in his 20s who he and I disagreed over if Allah would forgive the Christians and he told me “I would never speak a word against my Lord, I have to check with the scholars first”, he said this humbly he was a great guy. The wahhabs are taught that if they disagree with the wahhab scholars then they are speaking against our Lord. He won’t speak a word against the scholars he will always take their word as a fact.

Every election is called the most important of our lifetime for over 50 years.

They will normalize asking someone how is your mental health?

They are trying to get rid of masculinity in society yet if you are a woman, you can't be drafted. I find this funny.

The sheer amount of people who believe "who the hell is he to tell me how to live my life" to a local catholic priest is just without words. That's how I would describe Massachusetts to someone. They will not take one bit of advice from the local catholic priest would say go to confession for your sins and don't tell others about your faults. People in Massachusetts will do the exact opposite of that. It is no wonder why no one marries in a Church anymore. People of Massachusetts really view it as you are telling me what to do. The catholic leaders are always evolving to try to keep up with whatever Americans do, the Americans still take nothing from the catholic priests. They either love them or despise the thought of them. The catholics feel they have to do this anyways, why?

Saudi Arabia will lie. Yemen wanted to separate, the sauds didn't let them then they blamed Iran for supporting their right to separate. That's low, however Saudi Arabia has done far worse than a lie like that.

Calling someone a sodomite who is that is freedom of religion. Calling the cops on me claiming I am trying to cause violence, that means America supports the lgbt first.

I'd love to ask a freemason what answers you were seeking meaning what answers could it possibly give you. They seriously believe in all these practices that go against the Bible but plenty of them believe in the same God as we do. I'd like to ask them along with the talmudists why does a Bible exist then? The wahhabs are exempt from this unless if they seriously believe you can add practices that are not found in hadiths. If the wahhabs did, I don't know if that is even worse.

The belief of Americans and Sauds are that because their country is wahhab or freemason, that means they go by the countries laws and support them and the country. That's not critical thinking that means you have been conquered by them. Even with the talmudists I've shown that's not what King Bulan intended for when they converted. If people seriously think that is Judaism is only using the Talmud, hiding it from the public and corrupting the earth I don't know what to tell them.

The elites will keep thinking they are right allowing any ideology in their countries and that we Muslims are wrong for banning groups like incels. This furthers our beliefs that both the elites and us Muslims that we are right.

For the ones who don’t believe the leaders of the wahhabs, catholics, freemasons who are part of their cults are working for the zionists to enslave the earth, it would take their leaders to tell the truth which they will never till the end of time.

All the Devil did was use them for a “third” temple. Nothing will be given to them. It turns out they were not so great after all.

If a talmudist converted to satanism and had talmudist parents, I would know he or she is a convinced satanists no matter what. The case is already closed because he is doing what he wants for talmudism. It doesn’t need to even be addressed in any way; you would instantly know. Yet for the public they are convinced he’s a satanist.

This is how pathetic America really is, people claim they support America and everything it does. Then they claim they have haters and trash anyone that doesn’t believe what they believe. That’s not supporting a country and you need to grow up. This shows me you want these “haters” so then you can trash them all day. If you were professional, you wouldn’t address “haters” all day, none of this helps America in any way. This is proof America found a way to make it be solely about you, and they are still able to use you.

Th elites can’t just tell Americans what they are doing and what they believe because the elites believe in multiple gods and most Americans don’t. Plus, they don’t want to divide their slaves further.

The elites will learn their citizens so well over 100 years that they will have such great influencers and so many of them that these influencers will reach into the Middle East and will teach Palestinians how to think that will distort Islam.

The catholic church will be divided with the far right and the far left where the pope will be far left and plenty of catholics will be far right.

What the politicians do is they keep taking strong stand after strong stand. What this does is create more hatred in America. Their goal is to make sure you talk about matters like gun control, climate change, and to think the other party hates you in what you do. They don’t want state rights, don’t listen to them. They want division so these matters are fought over in the White House. The far right and the far left are going to win. Their goal is to make people as passionate as possible in America, so they want every issue brought up as much as possible and fought over in congress. They want to take the biggest stands possible on every matter and only talk about those big issues.

I think it is sad when people show up to several protests to get their voice heard for a good time where they are not passionate at all. In America people protest for no reason at all. Yet they mean to tell me that America is a prospering country? The elites will make more and more protests for people to go where the protesters protest nothing at all. The elite's goal is to dumb down the earth. Protests are not just for nothing; they are to reform a society. The elites redefine what protests are for. This means the most minor things a president they did not vote for does they will talk about it as much as they want going to protests claiming the world is criminating against them. This may be the funniest thing I have ever typed.

It will get out of control where anything abnormal is allowed. This will make the republican party believe they are more and more right so it will only get worse. It seems obvious to me the two parties work together to find new ideas for the public to hate each other with.

The elites will always think they are right in what ideology they promote so they don't care that the world around them is failing because the way they see it that they are happy with who they are, and they were right you didn't do what they wanted. I find this to be unreal.

The elites know a massive amount of people messing up religion with or without the wahhabs telling them how to think. They want you to have a social media account in hopes of arguing with someone who knows nothing yet acts like they know everything. That's why they put out Whoopi Goldberg all smiling saying "god supports homosexuality", she wants you to argue all day with someone on the internet who seriously believes that. Lookup Daily Disciple a Christian, look at what he has to endure in order to teach religion. The only people that should be teaching religion on the internet should be scholars, they should handle it all. We people who are not scholars should still have the right to comment and have an opinion, but we should be citing scholars for every opinion on religious matters. That's like the near opposite of religion on the internet look at TikTok. In America, you don't even need to be licensed or have a college degree in theology to be a pastor. At the very least there must be a written exam to be passed.

The elites try to play this game of we are not interested we don't want to be a part of Islam and we don't want to get involved with Palestine. Now that we know the elite's motives it just ruins it for them as to why they want no part of the Ummah.

The freemasons believe you can have any beliefs you want, and they will speak highly of your beliefs. This means they allow cults like mormon.

The word “slut” doesn’t exist in America it is seen as female empowerment to sleep with as many guys as possible. No, republicans like Candace Owens cannot say for a fact that it is wrong for a woman to sleep with as many guys as possible. It is America, it is her choice to sleep with as many guys as possible, as I said before the concept of a “slut” is just a theory, she could be an empowering woman.

Now since gay marriage is bipartisan it will make the youth more pro-gay. At the very least no generation will leave it.

All these people who claim they are people of the earth, and they have no affiliation to a country, you are pro American because when you speak against something America does you never quit on the country. You are their slave. You are as patriotic for America as it gets. You don’t represent the world; you represent America which owns you. At the end of the day, I don’t see you protesting any of the wars America engages in, the nsa spying on us, and the zionists running America. You make it far worse too because you vote in American elections.

Daesh does not look bad for us Muslims. It looks terrible for today’s first world education that someone could be talked into killing Muslims who know the faith far better than them and being funded by the zionists whether the people in the first world countries knew it or not either way it looks terrible. Yet somehow, we Muslims get the blame as if we are supposed to watch over young people in the first world countries who failed from the American education system.

Music causes sporadic behavior; the elites will push more and more music.

Child services can claim you have ADHD to take away your kids and they can call you a liar. There are two big issues here, number one is that they cannot prove you have ADHD, and their psychiatrists would be biased towards it, number two they themselves use lying and normalize it, it is typical.

The lady at my group home, America doesn’t make her pay for her toddler that child services took away because she doesn’t earn an income, she collects the social security and gives nothing back.

The commentators on YouTube for America like the pro trump keep pushing the same activism. They’ve already informed us for so many years, they just waste your time. Nothing is informative or knowledge based that they put out. They just keep claiming injustice after injustice.

If someone is a Muslim, of course I have no problems with them. If someone is a zionist, I don’t want to be around them. Yet if anything is to happen between a zionist and myself the assumption in America is that one or both of us are struggling. Seriously?

All today's first world countries keep doing is pushing more "bold statements", "wow moments" to compete with the world. Take for example Kim Kardashian showing off her rear in a magazine cover. People will keep competing for fame because they look up to her and aspire to be like her, if not there is some other celebrity that is loved by their fans. The elites want the biggest headlines possible; this will cause their citizens to have bigger and bigger expectations that life cannot match.

When you tell the truth about for instance Kyrie Irving wearing an ankh and claiming to be Muslim that Kyrie Irving is a pagan that he's not a real Muslim, American beliefs is that you want to bring Kyrie Irving down out of jealously.

The elites could have tricked us into chasing the worldly life and not attacking Muslim lands, but they have to do both they feel because foremost is to get from the Nile to the Euphrates. It is nowhere near as easy to trick us Muslims what their goal is. It plays a big part in ruining their plans, how they have to do both.

In today's first world countries, they want you explaining your sexual orientation in order for the lgbt to take pride in being gay. I'm not saying they use it to shame us straight people, it's just so odd. If it keeps expanding, then people will wonder why you don't tell people your sexual orientation. I'm not saying it has to be concealed, it shouldn't be embraced as pride, that's just strange.

Andrew Tate pointed out that rich people get so many death threats and that back then death threats meant something. I'm sure the next generation will think that is acceptable since their parents still do it in their 40's.

One thing that makes the elites so sick is that they believe they are the leaders in the regard of their citizens have no good ethics and the elites feel their citizens have to be led by them to not belittle others. As if that would make these elites leaders of mankind, that would mean the elites are failures, their slaves have no morals. The elites act like they have morals, we know they don't, but they play it like they do so I'm speaking on how they present themselves on their social media, not behind the scenes where they laugh at us non elites. It's a sign of failure on their part.

A group of people got deeply offended that Kyrie was expected to apologize because he is a famous figure. The issue with this thinking is a group of people can be all wrong with a matter. Society has its issues, calling out a group of people is not wrong and that violates America's free speech.

America wants it that way where you cannot offend what is really criticize any group if you have a following. Since you can't criticize anyone and you have for instance the ADL decide what antisemitism is, how do you decide what is hate speech and what facts are? How do they know the ADL is right? Because talmudists got upset? They have replaced constructive criticism with what they call "respect", it is crafty on the elite's part. Kyrie spoke against their religious beliefs, not their ethnic heritage, the ADL puts the two together. Isn't this the same country where you can mock someone's religion and you are not deemed "disrespecting" a religion? But when people are deeply offended, then it is taken seriously? They are picking and choosing what respect is.

In America, you can mock Christianity of their false god being crucified but you can't claim the holocaust didn't happen, you can't make fun of talmudic people because the false Christian god did what he did for religion and apparently the talmudic people didn't is what they are saying because of the talmudic people were allegedly genocide for being talmudic then they could be mocked. America can't claim it is because a genocide is serious and one death is not, they believe every life is sacred. The southern poverty law center doesn't target you if you mock the false Christian god. Unless if today's first world countries can prove for a fact that Hitler allegedly gassed the talmudic people for their race. These are the same people who say we are revising history.

The world will become spiritual gradually as example Kyrie Irving where he wears the ankh. The elites want you to say that you are part Christian, part Muslim, a Jew, like Kyrie Irving does. Kyrie Irving said he is committed to all races, all cultures, all religion, that's how they push it. These people have no faith.

In America, the elites think to get the most happiness, you pick your religion and your political beliefs. None of these changes the fact that elites argue over if freemasonry is right or talmudism is right and the elites know Christianity is false, but they let you believe Christianity because they think it is possible that there is one of many false gods named Jesus.

The elites strategically say "we are against all form of hate; we respect all people" yet they left out the Palestinians, this is sick.

The elites want to keep opening talks on conversations we Muslims will not have; they want as many talks as humanly possible. Because of this, we Muslims are seen as not putting in effort to make things work in the world.

The elites don't want us to have one set of beliefs as a tool against us Muslims.

Catholicism, freemasonry, talmudism, is discriminatory against other religions such as Christianity and Islam mostly Christianity when they don't have the upper hand. Since their beginning they have been. Yet they try to convince the public they are not liars.

The elites can't make up their minds to either end the earth or unite it to build it up in their own fashion. Pick a path and unite for it. Doing both won't get them their means any quicker. They are not united at all, and they know the other party is all wrong to either end or unite the earth.

The elites want to make it Sunni-Shia claiming that Iran supports Shia puppet governments to expand Shia to run many Islamic countries and that Saudi Arabia support the Sunni's when we all know the Sauds want their wahhabism to take over Sunni Islam. Ben Netanyahu said himself that Hitler wanted a "master race", Iran wants a "master faith". If you go against the wahhabs, you are a dictator to them, that is crafty.

If there is good in these people, it would be like if you owed me $100 and I told you oh it is $100.03 you owe me I need the pennies. Their evil is the $100, their good is the pennies. To act like oh they have done good because others see them as heroes who want what is best is so misleading yes there are minor good things Bush did for Iraq, I'm sure. In fact, you can say they want no good at all since they want you to be enslaved forever.

Remember that I am added to the list of haters for telling them how they corrupt society, meaning they aren't held accountable.

The elites like Kayne West want you to see good in everyone in history to claim they (elites) know best because the elites take all ideas from every leader/ideology.

America will become more and more political each year.

The elites want everyone to believe what they want as a tool to get power figuring if everyone believes what they want they will win everything. The elites don't believe any belief needs to be universal, they believe any country that stands in their way of the "third" temple needs to go.

The elites will keep fighting each other over for instance Qatar not legalizing homosexuality. It goes nowhere and never ends. This is an example of how they can never agree on what to do and choose to spare with each other instead. I find this funny.

Transgenders scare children. Transgenders want to tell every child about their ideology knowing this thinking that by talking so much to children about it will somehow make children want to grow up to have as many transgender friends as possible and see them as normal. This is sick.

Aaron Ra raised a mormon, there's your answer. It's not a theory either he was raised a mormon, there is documents of it but he will lie to you anyways and claim him leaving was not for political reasons it was for "moral" and "knowledge based" reasons, sure.

The elites' sons and daughters can tell the truth of what beliefs they were raised on that were being hidden from the public, then their sons or daughter can say "I've left the belief and now I'm atheist, buddhist, christian etc." We won't know if the elites' sons or daughters are lying or not or if their parents left the beliefs they had previously. They may now not believe in the "third" temple and may believe something wild. What I'm saying is we don't know what they believe since it is hidden and their sons or daughters may leave what their parents taught them, but we don't know what all these countries leaders believe and why they are fighting these wars in the Middle East.

The elites want America to collapse, this is done by having as many activists worldwide as possible with so many varying beliefs. This is just funny when you think about it, like I said before protests of nothing.

Scientologists will flood your email and will keep looking for you trying to get you to come back. Only in America is this legal where the FBI clearly knows this happens.

What they want in America is for you to focus overwhelmingly on what happens in the country. As example, they want you to focus all on if a politician supports black lives matter or not. Or if another politician supports abortion, gun rights etc. They want very little of your focus to be on foreign policy and foreign policy unless if that means China and Russia where they want you to focus a lot on. They want you to barely know about what happens in Yemen and Palestine to the point they give no coverage at all and barely anything is written about it If this is incorrect, go on CNN's and Fox News's websites to check yourself. They do talk about Palestine a fair amount, however the articles however on Yemen are from years ago meaning they don't cover it at all. It all gets lost since the focus is on America only clearly what benefits America since talking about Yemen which is halfway across the world doesn't seem to benefit America's interest at home at all. I don't think this is "sick" on their parts, but it is clear the elites want you overwhelmingly to focus on America and spend no time at all on Palestine and Yemen. They do cover Syria a lot, but that's because they want to win you over. In fact, they talk about Iran 1/3rd of the amount they talk about Biden. There are more articles on Iran than China by 20,000 on Fox News. 9k are on Saudi Arabia, 130k on Iran, 330k on Trump and Biden each, 8k on Yemen, 29k on Syria, 7k on Palestine, 11k on Christianity, 25k on Islam, 111k on China.

They don’t talk about Trump that much in Texas a woman told me who lives there.

How they get away with wanting to enslave humanity is that you can be a catholic and not believe catholicism is to enslave humanity, in fact when it first was invented it wasn’t, but in today’s world and so long as the elites are in power, it will be. What really is happening is they are using their followers telling them that they don’t have to want to enslave humanity. At the end of the day, elites own it, they will decide for you if catholicism’s goal is to enslave humanity.

It is so clear to me the elites want their countries to be as chaotic as possible and then let the citizens figure out where the citizens come up with the solutions. If the elites didn’t do this, their countries wouldn’t be chaotic in the first place. You just know there is an agenda.

A lady who is 31 told me she has all these stories of people acting strange and saying strange things during dates in Massachusetts, she told me she could write a whole book on it. I find this funny.

These people are a bunch of nobodies who get famous on social media with their ideas that are common sense. Do you expect me to be your slave? I don’t even know who you are until later through finding one and finding the next. Yet for some reason not only do they think they are famous when they are not, they really believe I need to be their slave because I don’t align fully with their ideas. Do you know how silly you look of, oh I inform you about what is going on in the world as advice that would benefit you, but you already know about it? Now be my slave forever. Oh well in this world I helped you. Things that can just be researched by myself.

It would figure the talmudists play victim all the time, go read the historical books, read about the talmudist run gulags or how they treated the Germans during WWI betraying them, then trying to collapse Germany with the Weimar republic, then after WWII subjugating the Germans. Now they say it hurts their feelings when they are told talmudists killed the Messiah, they didn’t care historically when accused of it, they would laugh about it. It hurts them to hear they run all of Hollywood, all the banks, dominate American politics. They push a sodomite agenda, you open countries borders, you can’t run finance at all America is in a recession every year since 2008 (lol), you hide from the Nile to the Euphrates, you created daesh to use on us Muslims to get us more hate, you did 9/11, you make sure that your talmudists go to the top colleges through “racial equality”, you violate all rules of war, you insult others religions, you deny religion, you don't allow black Africans to your zionist state, you store up on nukes, you lie about history to fill a narrative, claims of racism on others, pornography, the holocaust for sympathy, abortion, socialism, capitalism etc. Study what the zionists do to the Palestinians, Syrians, Yemeni, Iraqi, Lebanese people. Your people will gladly make sure to exterminate those in their way and those who do not want you to run the world. How can you play victim? Do you not want criticism, is that what is happening? They wanted to go unknown, now since they control most of the earth, they want the world to rally behind them. The talmudists are not "victims."

Freedom of speech includes slander, nobody goes to jail for slander only after like 20 offenses at worst they go to a psych ward, that's how awful your country is. Something you don't teach in schools.

To the zionists your holy land is America not Palestine. There are 6.5 to 7 million Khazar zionists occupying Palestine and 5.7 to 10 million Khazar zionists in America. But where they make the big money, and Hollywood fame is in America. Just ask one, which country do you prefer to live in, I would wager all would say America. In fact, they would rather live in New York than Tel Aviv.

All America is lies and then ideologies to fit the lies given. They call talking about this with others "teaching hate".

All they want is more and more hate, so they have Jordan Peterson tour the Al Aqsa Mosque and then have him interview Ben Netanyahu in a positive light. With talmudic worshippers to make it seem like an injustice is done in the world in the form of discrimination against a group of people. It is clear Jordan Peterson is in on it. As if he didn't know not to do that.

With all this interfaith dialogue they don't want you speaking about other people's religions and what they do wrong except in a positive light. There is something seriously wrong with this, the pope says "radical islam" exists. Is he exempt or does he not realize what that does to talk people out of the Islamic faith. It doesn't work that way and I understand he is supposed to be a faith leader but a concept like that is all or nothing.

When a serious claim is made against someone and the party disagrees, someone is going to lie at some point meaning they are all wrong. This is very easy to recognize with the right questions. This can be proven in court instead of have these idiot psychologists say both sides have their points and drop the case. The reality is cops, FBI, government can just pick and choose anything when slander is presented this way. This is sick.

If someone makes a claim that you were going to kill them there is nothing they can do about it because nothing had happened. The psychologists can't understand that when someone slanders you that you will be irate.

What they want to do is say it is the person not the source. This is what a society would do that not only wants to censor the truth but dumb down its citizens. If they so choose they can also say the person responsible is struggling.

If only we could shut down all religious centers and symbols. It seems most people in America, like 95% are agnostic and want an agnostic country. They have no need for centers of worship, and they can study "science" all day. All of them would feel accepted no matter what they believe.

For some reason comedians are never deemed mentally ill in America, but people who joke around are, we can't have any jokes in society accept at a large platform? I can't understand this.

How truly lost you must be to try to unite the earth and lie against the fact that the zionists run the earth yet you believe your religion will unite all humanity. You are their slave working on their behalf to shame anyone who tells the truth about them.

It's not that people like Kim Kardashian have a "team". They have geniuses plan for them what to say, how to act etc.

Saudi Arabia will host one of the biggest raves in the world. Saudi Arabia is supposed to be the most religious country in the world, and no one seems to care that they want to corrupt the youth. Nobody seems to protest it in Saudi Arabia when they know that this will lead to drug addiction, alcohol, and pre martial sex. They are trying to get people ready for a lifestyle that will ruin them and they are trying to make their Saudi citizens much more relatable to the world so they can make a global unity.

The worldly life is their tool, no they still don't care about you. They only want you to live the best life ever to make you forget Allah and overlook what they are doing.

Joe Rogan said the stories of the Bible were written down as accurately or as inaccurately as possible. Joe there is an answer to this, a book in which there is no doubt in the Quran. Joe there is an answer to this, a book in which there is no doubt in the Quran. Joe, we get it you believe it cannot be proven as fact. You are calling Muhammad a liar; you are not a skeptic you are a critic.

Ben Shapiro said to Joe Rogan it is fine if you think religion is dumb and bs. Ben, historically you would have people killed who felt this way but now since you have the upper hand they work side by side by you since you own them as property. You actually do care if Joe Rogan thinks religion is dumb and bs as proof that your religion states joe must be your slave if not he is to be killed. That’s a form of caring is telling someone what to do for you. Making fun of religion, you still own someone Ben is the moral of the paragraph.

HealthyGamerGG interviewed a guy for 2 hours who claims to be a potential school shooter who I would think has learned from it, he did however show his face during the whole interview. How society has fallen for not putting this guy in a prison. I would think HealthyGamerGG would know this is not a conversation that anyone would want to have and should not be made public, in the interview neither of them seemed to show any emotion and the potential school shooter didn’t seem too upset about it. How do people know he did this to benefit people going public about something so concerning? We don’t know his motive since this is America and America is run by sick people. Would you trust him if he was your neighbor? I wouldn’t. To claim he’s a different person, you don’t know that. Nobody benefitted from this, there’s no proof it will be prevented in the future. How is this not disturbing to people that someone would go public about this where he’s being recorded talking to a famous YouTuber?

The less practicing Christians are the less hate the talmudists will get so they figure why not flood pornography for instance. Plus, less people will talk about talmudists because they care much less about religion.

The talmudists want to unite the earth so they say we are all the same no matter what religion we are. This couldn’t be further from the truth.

They teach you in schools to respect everyone but there will be things that will always upset you such as gangs and people insulting religion with bumper stickers for instance.

They don’t know in America that if someone is truly sick and they raise the child that the child will grow up to be sick.

In talmudism, catholicism, and freemasonry there is simply no reason to pray to their false god. Unless if they are a rabbi for instance then why bother? Their only goal is to control the world and corrupt it. They won’t pray to their false god to corrupt it.

The biggest reason why talmudism, catholicism, and freemasonry is wrong is because they believe mankind knows more than god.

They have naked beaches in the zionist state, I don’t think by this point us Muslims share anything in common with them.

Commentators like Ben Shapiro and Matt Walsh act as if traditional values in talmudism and catholicism don't exist to this day and have never existed historically because they live in countries that outlaw marriages of those at puberty, warfare, slavery, fornication laws, laws against homosexuality, hitting wives, blasphemy laws etc. This is deceptive of them, and it works to lure more people to their beliefs. They are never asked these questions but us Muslims are asked it immediately when it is brought up. We Muslims are expected to condemn every aspect of Islam and we are not asked beyond that about all the ethics of Islam. It just shows they don't believe in their holy book. It is clear they would not apply their holy book if they were running a country.

Ben Netanyahu agreed with Jordan Peterson that the "Jews" were kicked out of the land of Palestine and that the Arabs conquered it and then lost it. This means Ben believes Jew is an ethnicity, he would be wrong. Arab and Jew are the same. Ben will keep promoting it because he doesn't want you tracing lineage. I don't know what Ben thinks Jew is since Ben is a Khazar convert.

The suicide rate for pornstars is incredibly high. Those on onlyfans and webcams aren't susceptible to this. America is pushing away for this, but America pushes pornography on teens to watch and they don't ban the porn industry when they easily can in today's world.

The zionists know that when most people are so angry and their land is being taken away by bulldozers what will happen is they will resort to attacking the zionists through either legitimate means or illegitimate (meaning terrorism), most of the time it is illegitimate means on the Palestinians part. Instantly right after wards, Ben Netanyahu goes out and says something must be done to "protect" the zionists. In this case it is Naftali Bennett who is far more anti Palestinian than Ben Netanyahu. Ben was very anti Iran; Naftali isn't as I have stated before. The zionists sent out Naftali who doesn't f around. Never would I think I would rather Ben Netanyahu be in office where Naftali doesn't want a two-state solution, Naftali is saying he will do everything in his power to end the West Bank.

Lauren Southern got angry on twitter and posted 7 long tweets about how she is not happy that the Christchurch Mosque shooting happened, and she would never wish that on someone no matter what they believe. We get it you don't want people to die who lives in the countries that work for you, but Lauren, you wish that on Palestinians who don't leave their land and you will stop at nothing for me to be your slave for eternity and you hide this from the public. You fail on so many levels.

The elites get people to talk about sex through celebrities. What they do is they put the headlines on every website to get you to talk about it.

A lady I met said she had a friend in the child services field, she says no one wants to work in it because it is so depressing. America, you can't do the job you so desperately want to of ruining families.

On Dr. Phil, R (no name provided) said that there are increased rates of tumor growth over the last 20 years, on top of anxiety and infertility, Amal Graafsta says those are "incorrect", he says since the 70's there have been studies done that indicate nothing. This is democracy where you can lie all the time.

They are taught to not quit on you and that you are a victim of some sort that you will "learn" over time. They do this as a tactic since they have the upper hand. When the FBI first came to me, they treated me as some sort of victim who must have had a girlfriend break up with him. They knew I was not joining them, ever. They will tell you "Hey man, you actually support gay marriage, and this is your mental illness speaking for not doing what is best for humanity, you're a great guy". What they are really saying is they know best; you are dumb to them.

I don't ever want to hear that in America they can identify mental illness at 33% percent of its citizens and in Iran at 8 % that Iran purposely lets it go unnoticed. I obviously know they do not have nearly as many people who were spoiled as children to the point, they need all this help. America, you have a mental health crisis. The world, humanity does not. Clearly another tactic by them and a way to get more private data through their spying.

I wonder if Nick Fuentes wants to give up wondering why people are not doing anything about what he says or does, he has this face on the Alex Jones show where he's like ok we have to do this, nobody will put me in jail. I know Nick is never going to read this but Nick, you are 24, you will miss out on life for this and every year this will worsen on you if this is how you feel where you no longer want any part of it but will do it anyways. We already know with Nick he doesn't support the ideas he puts out, maybe a few at most.

Your countries are headed nowhere, you have dumb people fighting each other on TikTok over their beliefs laughing at each other for likes. Meanwhile most of humanity is trying to unite the earth, how would that be possible to do?

Malikiclique on TikTok has 2 million likes. He's been to prison, and he is incredibly sensitive to the fact that there are Muslims who try to talk him out of the religion, he claims he’s been bullied (exact words). How is this possible? Did prison cause this to happen to him?

The fame was worth that much for rappers they didn’t even care they got shot dead. The black youth see this and make friends with gang members either thinking they are doing the right thing or it will get them more fame, the gang member can easily talk them into doing the wrong thing or he may be viewed as an accomplice. This means crime goes up because one is involved and then the friend is accused and the police do not believe him, it gets even worse. Then the black youth feels they are not respected by the cops where they wanted to be left alone feeling they’ve been harassed by the cops.

Marty Walsh goes to lgbt parades because he hates you, he knows all Christians cannot stand it. There’s your country.

In America it is always the person and not the religion for why someone is angry. The elites play into this so well.

Massachusetts and I will never respect each other, we are two opposites.

When you talk about Islam with anyone or 9/11, the government is satanic, there is a sodomite agenda, nukes stored up, the nsa spying on us, hijab should be mandated in Iran, support of Palestine, support of Yemen they will look at you like a madman at every religious center in Massachusetts. You are free to talk agnosticism with there being “aliens” out there and pro lgbt.

What America does is they quit on you; they never blame Islam. Even Fox News stopped doing this. It is good to know that this is the direction they take.

The elites want to separate Islam from Palestinians and Syrians from the Ummah. They will do this to the Lebanese next saying that being engaged in wars is not what Islam teaches. It shows how when Barack Obama said “Islam teaches peace”, he may have meant to achieve this this he may have not.

Put all gang affiliated people in prisons that are over the age of 16 until they compromise their beliefs. We can track them thanks to social media alone, we do not need the NSA at all for this. When you go to a jail you are part of a gang so white people are neo nazi’s. All religions are treated as gangs. This means they are furthering your gang affiliation while in prison. Gang members will tell you that the reason why they act up is because of mental health issues. They either purposely overlook, or they can’t recognize it, or they play dumb as to how their gangster ideology is what is causing this. I think they can’t recognize it they are too stupid. Gang members do not get along with neighbors at all. Gangs are nothing more than the elites’ pawns to spread them globally to corrupt the earth. They use them at home in America as a base. When you look up gangs on FBI it says many are involved in crime of all sorts. How can a gang member tell me about how this works for society? Should we all be in the crips? Gang members claim they hate snitches, but they are snitches they will report you to any authority if you hurt their feelings. Gang members are so pathetic, the law is clearly on their side that they threaten people, and the law does nothing about it. I had a latin queen at my group home who yelled at me for talking to someone that walked away from her when she went in her apartment, she got too close to me, I walked away and called her a “fat”, she then freaked out the next day begging me to get kicked out. A month later she then tries talking to me again and expects me to respond or else I am “rude” to her. Jails aren’t populated at all at 0.5% of the population so I know your gangs are getting away with this when 5 million people are in gangs, and they all get away with it when there are 1 million gang members and 0.7% are in jail which a portion are gang members. She also told someone who lives there that she would “stab me”. Gang members are so stupid they want to be loved by everyone and they commit crime I think this is the worst sentence I have ever written. Latin kings believe that all authority is to be hated and fought with fists, but they will never fist fight authority that they need for instance at a group home. The latin kings and queens gangs teach that something is not an issue If it doesn’t effect them, that means they are not fair people though they claim to be.

Jon McCray on YouTube said it is fine to do psychedelics to try to find his false god when talking to Mikhaila Peterson in a conversation. He almost speaks positively of it saying, “hey if it is positive good for you, it’s just not something I do”. Jon, you are so stupid it is not even funny. Part of what makes this so bad is that Jon can’t realize, if you want to find God, you read the scripture, pray and you explore books, nothing past that. It is also scary because Mikhaila knows Islam is correct. She is clearly talking about a false god she is trying to find by doing drugs knowing very well in Islam you can never do drugs. As I have shown you before in paragraphs, she plays the clueless role when talking about Islam.

Richard Dawkins gave up informing people of evolution and debating people like he did in 2006 to just claiming injustice all the time as this feel-good time he’s having like saying “hey, it’s common sense not to be religious, I understand you being religious but hey hear me out”. He’s very smart to do this.

On Wikipedia they mess up Insha'Allah as Inshallah for the main word on the website.

Body positive, shame free home saying that is who she is a pastor turned stripper on Dr. Phil said smiling. They want an audience to ask every question and they will answer any question wanting everyone to take interest in it to inform them of every detail. There is your country America, shame free.

Elon Musk got booed on stage and said "I'm rich " acting as Dave Chappelle, cringe. I wonder how much of this document Elon will make.

The reason why they believe there are multiple false gods is because they hate you. They believe they have found a false god that hates you and will take the Lord down. Only through their false god being superior to the Lord can they take the Lord down.

A friend of Logan Paul's on a podcast who claims to be Christian said you are not a "child of god" if you do not love your neighbor whether "gay or straight". That's how they try to legalize homosexuality in Christianity that's the saying they go by. We know they mean that they endorse homosexuality and will not speak a word against it.

The elites want to stress you out so much that they want to keep making headline after headline, they want you to keep working harder and harder to impress people to the point it destroys your character for good having such high expectations. Your life is ruined, fun for them.

The elites want the drugs to ruin you and the psych wards you to go to amp you up with medications that do nothing.

The elites' beliefs would collapse anyways, they all would fight each other for more power once they got their "third" temple. Ironically, they believe their "third" temple will bring world peace. This would do the opposite.

Whenever something is new, people chase it immediately, they have to buy or at least hear about it and know everything they can. Think of the smartphone when it first came out. So, if something "new" is happening during End Times, all will talk about it in some way. Very fast, it will consume them.

They are so sick in America that they allow adoptions for gays and transexuals.

Saying both sides have their talking points in psychology always makes the authorities win. The authorities have the final say not the psychologists who do nothing!

A comedian said you might want to marry a Republican woman because they may want to be with the kid. He then said oh no I might be canceled for that. What a great guy, I'm not being sarcastic here, though I am sure he is not trying to be a great guy at all. America, you did one thing right with this guy.

Vladmir Putin said America has been able to obtain such incredible results that America has creativity, openness it opens the potential. Is he lying or has he not been where I've been. What is he trying to tell us. He's not explaining why he says that, then what is his motive? Is he trying to build up America? Is he trying to seem like a good guy while lying? Does he truly not get it? Is he trying to win Americans over into supporting Russia? Is he trying to unite America and Russia? The Elites always leave that part out. I can't just trust him. The interviews are always so short when the elites talk and then they go on to talking about something else.

People were seriously worried for Kayne West and still nothing has happened to him that got him physically hurt. The elites knew nothing would happen to him.

In America, money is always the solution to your problems even if you have enough to pay bills. The more money, the less problems, this is called insecurity America.

Kayne West said Kim Kardashian can dress the way she does and be religious because Kim is not a "perfect" Christian. Another tactic from the elites to try to mix faith in with being a whore. Kayne, you and I know she only tries a little bit at most, what you are doing is lying.

In America, they strive to be perfect with every little thing. Not only does it get them nowhere, it wastes their time, and it makes them miserable inside chasing a utopia on this earth.

Psych wards can or cannot be more violent than prisons, so psych wards aren't the solution at all.

It is common sense not politics to legalize the death penalty. Now America is saying you must support gay marriage, that's democracy for you, it is a mobocracy.

A new marriage equality act that allows you to marry anyone you want. They already had that for years America, typical.

America is not a Christian nation, nothing in the constitution contains "God", "Jesus", "Christianity", or "Bible" even in the constitution.

A once classy girl named Travellight on YouTube with 675k subscribers has turned to being a whore who by the looks of it seems very wise has two videos within a 4-year span. One called how to make money trading ETH an informative video, 4 years later she has a video I joined onlyfans. I wonder how her parents feel about her career choice, maybe she needs the money. It makes you wonder what is behind the scenes.

If society called you a bad person, you would never have to work again or participate in anything such as wars, voting, reproduction, charity. So, what America comes up with is calling you mentally ill, that you have your “struggles” and you can do great with them, despite what I have shown you what schizophrenia means.

In America, at least 30-40 percent of women aged 18 are not ready for sex having no priorities, goals, little knowledge. They are ready at age 26. Yet America doesn’t even care.

People believe that there is not a conspiracy that decides what you can and cannot say in public. What they won’t see happening is that people will keep being written up in the schools because America is so broken beyond repair. What I am saying is that they will destroy someone’s brain with their ideologies.

Someone told me my actions and words are what decides if I get into trouble or not. That’s not at all how it works. People are very smart; they know how to scheme it to make you look like a madman. Yet they still hire you for the job because they need you. It amazes me how all this works.

Someone told me that I don’t decide who takes medications and who doesn’t. The whole country is pilled up. American citizens have no credibility. They don’t care that the medications have destroyed their reputation for good. Once you pop one pill, meet with a therapist, go to one psych ward, you have ruined it for good. The only exception which could be debated is if you were homeless and you had to do this to get housing and social security.

It is also the lawyer’s fault for not fixing any of this in America. We are told we have rights but the lawyers know there is no money and you cannot win if you sue the cops. I can show everyone is in on this. The lawyers say we protect your rights, no you don’t you want to make money. Between the religious centers, cops, lawyers, judges, schools, the political parties, politicians with exception to a small portion of Americans are in on it, they know who they are. They all say they do the right thing, nope.

Doctors are very hard to contact in America.

In America, people accuse you in the public of mental health issues that you need to meet with a therapist or go to a psych ward to be cynical, it happened to me a good amount.

So many people are becoming lgbt because they want to lead the next generation to becoming lgbt as if they themselves had done something “historic”, the extremes people in today’s first world countries will go to for to believe they are a leader and a hero of mankind, what a shame.

The psychiatrist told me you can work a job and there are plenty of jobs out there. As if this works in his favor that all the jobs are dead end. Be an honest person and admit no one wants to work for 14 an hour. This is such a pro American thing to say on his part.

Most catholics believe that the Bible did not actually happen confirmed by a deacon. You are called a fundamentalist if you do. This is one way the catholics cancel the Bible. The Bible simply is not good enough for the catholics.

People on the left will say I’m not fully white in America to say being racist doesn’t apply to them so it is ok calling white people racist. What they are saying is they are incapable of being racist for being a small portion native America from generations and generations back. Your people go searching through lineage all day to look for a past family member hundreds of years ago so they can claim they are in no way racist for life. America, your country is insane.

All mental health professionals must be required to explain their religious and political beliefs since they will explain your beliefs are part of your mental illness and there’s are not.

You must be a freak of some kind to want lgbt legalized and then you say you would never be gay. Why do you want it legalized? You must see some sort of “culture” in it despite you saying oh I want no part of it, they want gay pride parades. Don’t say you don’t want it and you don’t want it for your son or daughter. This is all or nothing. You normalized it. This is not an attack on the people who never want to hurt someone’s feelings and try to see good in everything people do. This is for the people who claim to be religious and then say there is a gay agenda, you are the gay agenda. This is for Bryson Gray, people like him.

In America I tell people this is a free country I can say what I want, yes to discourage them. Their response is your words have consequences. This is partially true, if someone were to hit me for calling them a racist term, they can get in trouble for it. So, the person won’t do it. There still is no penalty for this at all.

The only thing you can claim in America is that things are profit driven, that's why there is corruption. As I have shown, that couldn't be further from the truth of what is happening.

Treat everyone as you would want to be treated, this doesn't work in today's world. We have to call it as it is.

In Massachusetts, the concern has consumed people's lives. It's stopping the state and it consumes their lives. In what world do you worry about someone else? Mind your business Massachusetts.

The elites may act like they respect and honor each other. The reality is they all hate each other, they just found something they have in common that they want your suffering so bad it unites them. Once it fails, they turn on each other instantly blaming the other person, it happens every time. Once it fails, every minute they shared with each other was all bad to them.

The cop who asked me if I needed to go to a psych ward who was covering for another cop lying in the report, he asked if I needed to go to a hospital. I asked him back and he smirked at me. The joke is on him. They will be paying for me for life. When he plays that game, no matter how miserable everyone is having most cast off on you, you pay for it with money you don't have.

They don't believe in gender roles in psychology. It will keep expanding and you will see more effeminate men in America.

Because the elites want people to be "you" that means they will get more weird people which means more psych wards to be paid for. Lex Friedman a talmudist said this on his Twitter as his way of giving his "life advice."

If the world had universal healthcare, it would be a tactic for the elites to spy on their citizens using therapists to take notes on people. They are not doing this for obese people and those in hospitals who break their leg and have to pay full price. The real goal is to make you seek help your whole life and ruin you because the elites are perfect, and you are not so many people who quit on you because you have a therapist talk to you and think for you. This is also to get you to talk about more problems. Also, this will cost the world an absurd amount of money that may end Syria if implemented, I would think. So, the elites want Syrians to protest for it.

I would love to tell Logan Paul when he tells me I should meet with a therapist I will say "hey man, thanks for the concern, I am seeking the help as we speak."

America take note of this, nations are not intended for the population to sit back and seek help all day, that's what most of the youth are doing. The nations must produce, they must work hard, they must be disciplined. Going on Dr Phil and having everyone be concerned for everyone in the public. That would be the opposite of what I would expect out of a country. Just how scary something like that is.

Andrew Tate on twitter “Imagine having less than 4 wives and 10 children because you are a p* b* who doesn’t have four wives”. Andrew, that’s not how the world works. It almost sounds like a joke of some sort. We have bills to pay unlike you. Andrew, I can get arrested for having 4 wives. Also, Andrew, I don’t think I can handle 4 wives, I am just being honest here. If I am a “p* b”, I am one who has priorities in life. This is a guy who owns 33 luxurious cars, because if he had 32 luxurious cars, he would not be better than you.

The elite’s goal is to make everyone who wants to go to therapy go so they can find purpose and meaning in life. That’s the job of the religious centers. It is clear they want to push people away from religion that your guidance from someone who knows more is a therapist and not a local Imam. The therapist will push you away from religion in favor of the worldly life.

Public indecency is a misdemeanor in America for the first three offenses, it should be a lot more than a misdemeanor.

People in first world countries are outraged that premarital sex is banned in Indonesia. Not only do you not live anywhere near it, how does it affect them? They tell me Indonesia is bad. Clearly the people in the first world countries want their beliefs to be global for that to even bother them. It shows how the world is taking leaps back that people out outraged over this. How is this an injustice done to them? They are trying to say they must have the right to have sex outside of marriage everywhere that it is a freedom and a human right. No. Sex is a privilege. They can still have sex inside of marriage if it meant that much to them. This is proof people want their beliefs to be global. They are not in the right no matter how much they insist. If it bothers them that much, go to Indonesia, have sex outside of marriage and go to jail for it.

How is legalizing gay marriage a way to better society? How deluded and strange one must be.

It’s a cult if they will not tell you behind the scenes what their goals are for the world and its followers. That makes catholicism a cult since they hid how they raped children and because they hid how they wanted to enslave the world.

Notice how Logan Paul poses his talking points, he clearly is targeting the youth with them. Logan could not care less if you were in your 30s and you wouldn’t listen to him. It’s not intended for you; in fact, he knows maybe 5 people will leave religion in their 30s because of him.

Men in America who let their wives sleep with other guys, they claim that it causes them “mental health issues”. It is called shame, that’s how backwards America is where a guy claims he has brain functioning issues and needs pills that could have easily been avoided, ugh.

30 percent of talmudists want the “third” temple built. It can be built in under 6 months. It is at its highest rate for those who want it.

The therapists talk about how great the world is so it’s a win-win for the elites.

Ben Netanyahu in an interview being the genius he is held up a photo of a Hamas fighter executing someone and compared it to deash to show the world as a narrative against the Palestinians, that’s how crafty he is.

Since bullying is being taken out of schools, it will be up to the therapists to fix people who are strange in society. What a daunting task the therapists have.

The German soccer players who protested in Qatar over homosexual laws, the Germans of today are dehumanized for the past. How pathetic one must be that they are used by the elites to push gay marriage when they are told they don’t deserve life.

A controversial issue in America on Dr. Phil that they are engaged about, tipping. What a waste of time.

How smart the elites must be to have cross dressers in churches and have propaganda put out because people want you to “be you” and the elites know the concerns you have for your children.

With Andrew Tate constantly telling me he would suffer the worst depression imaginable being me, it just shows that the standards are getting higher and higher in life. Ironically, he was the one who said depression doesn’t exist so make up your mind Andrew Tate.

It is fine that they are taking out bullying in America. I agree with that despite the fact that the youth will have to learn to not be quirky at some point in some way. The real problem is that the expectations are too high for teenagers.

The definition of quirky for instance is up to anyone that means Americans tell you who are you to say someone is quirky or not when they show so many signs of it. America got this one wrong/ Quirky is defined. It isn’t up to each individual what it can and cannot mean and what the behaviors of it is. Yes, the behaviors are updating for quirky but not by much.

Hearing story after story will depress everyone to the point, they will not want to do their job anymore and they will eventually quit on America.

In America every job offered is dead end. That means at least 33 percent of the country doesn't pay taxes and add to it the amount of people that don't work. That's not a country.

How the wahhabs get away with this is the people you explain this to say, "it is not my place to comment on Islam". It's not that people are worried about being called a racist.

The elites' figure that when the economy gets worse, they get more money and people are more jealous of them. The reality is that the elites cannot run a country, it falls on them, the elites are failures, and their countries will collapse eventually.

Telling the youth there are over 72 genders and telling them to "be themselves" at the same time is confusing them. At the minimum it is contributing to them being abnormal, the youth who are not mentally ill become it.

The elites say every religion is "equal" to try to push false beliefs such as satanism in the schools. Religions aren't equal, then why is America always freemasonic? That makes no sense at all, if they are all "equal" then there should be a buddhist present when there is never a buddhist present that does not support the "third" temple.

Andrew Tate said he's a hybrid that when he's in Dubai he's Muslim when he's in Romania he's Christian. Two things, does that make any sense at all? Also, what Imam told him he could be both? Sounds like Andrew Tate is another coexist. Teenagers are watching this and getting adverted from faith from it. Andrew doesn't care in the slightest about the Christian who wisely called him out on it nor a Muslim like me. Andrew would target the most vulnerable in society, I get props to the Christian who called him out. Furnace for you Andrew.

The freemasons believe Adam gave himself life. That means they think they give themselves life, scary.

Andrew Tate will be making this list the most by far, he will surpass Trump. Andrew Tate said in a video that women should have their "body count" on their foreheads. This is so inappropriate on so many levels, in the 90s saying this was not accepted at all. He smirks about saying this knowing you will get beat up or will get no respect from women if you ask them what their “body count” is.

The cops will say “you are breaking up you will have to call back” when they want to get out of the conversation since they must serve and protect. I told the cop the same thing when he told me that and he responded. I guess the phone line didn’t break the second time I told him.

I tried explaining how each judge is biased in America and the lady said you get a new judge every year. That’s not how it works at all. She even yelled at me and hung up when I told her the DA smirked at me outside of the courtroom.

America has twice as many heroin related deaths as any other country. Do people not see how this is as a potential sign that America is headed nowhere fast?

Welfare spending has gone up 3 times over the last 42 years from 1977 to 2019. Inflation has gone up 3.5% on average each year, which is a 147% increase. Welfare has gone up a total of a 411% increase. 146 billion dollars to 711 billion dollars. Does this sound like a country that has a bright future to you?

I would say in some way, every American is contributing to America’s demise. Ever since every country legalized gay marriage, I really believe it. The one who are against gay marriage, they have quit on America. You know I don’t think it can be reported that it is getting towards being on life support, but I don’t think people want to drastically change what America is doing, they are satisfied with it. A small number I would think are willing to do so.

In 2015 when they mandated every country legalize gay marriage, they put up lights of the lgbt flag. That’s just weird, that’s not something to stand out for this “historic” thing America did. Remember too, in America if you don’t support gay marriage, you are seen as a bigot wanting to deeply offend innocent gay victims. I get it, the white house is gay, in fact as gay as possible that you want me to know about it so bad.

Logan Paul says he doesn’t agree with how in Christianity only Jesus can be worshipped as part of his apology video for condemning Christians for being against homosexuality. Logan, what in the world? There is so much wrong with this.

Andrew Tate “men can cheat but women can’t.” If you’re going to tell me I’m a failure all day long on your Twitter, get the religion right. He’s so smart that he’s got shorts on Twitter of many women who are well known speaking positively of him after all the claims he's "misogynistic". Andrew, you might be one of the worst, you're not the worst yet by no means.

We don't know which of the elites have good ambitions for people and which of them are trying to put you down. These are the obvious ones which I have given you. But because I wager at least 30% of them want to build America up and all the elites work together, you don't know who is. The elites who think they are doing good are ok with someone like Marjorie Taylor Greene's trying to put you down because the elites figure they can criticize her for it but even the elites are so cowardice they won't explain what Marjorie Taylor Greene's ambitions are. They act like it's her ideas that are horrible, not her as a person. To the elites who want to build up America, she is serving America, how sick, desperate, and cowardice is that?

The public knows that America has serious issues, they haven't given up hope that the future in America is terrible thinking things will get better. Year after year, they won't quit. Nothing you can say will get them to.

I'm convinced that people like Matt Dillahunty are incredibly stupid that this all goes over their heads where they think religion is the problem and they have the solution by talking you out of religion. Meanwhile America is collapsing, Matt Dillahunty cannot see it coming at all no matter what you show him, he will just argue it.

Today's first world countries could start a war between America and Saudi Arabia for instance. They believe they can do that despite the fact it is their land. Their goal would be to make hatred amongst two groups of people the Americans and the Sauds and to corrupt the earth. I have no reason to believe they would do this. There hasn't been one instance of this throughout history. America has terrorized its own citizens and blamed Saudi Arabian citizens. But that was a few instances of this throughout history. So don't think they will do this.

The elites want you to make 100k a year, then they tell you that you are in the club. From there, they tell you that you are not good enough, that you deserve even more that you need more titles, better material etc.

Ari Shaffir a well-known talmudist comedian "god is a *", that's what talmudists believe, of course, not all the talmudists believe that. Few talmudists have called him out for saying this.

How ridiculous the elites hide their beliefs, their ideas are ok at best most of the time horrific, they want to enslave humanity, research they have done that takes little effort to do, and still, they believe they are heroes of some kind?

Ben Shapiro says he’s worried for Kayne West speaking out against the talmudists, Ben wants him to get help. Oh, but Palestinians who stay in their land must be hit by rockets.

Andrew Tate says Logan Paul “sold his soul” and that Logan is a “hypocrite”. Andrew is not lying here. The question is, does Andrew believe he himself sold his soul? Andrew won’t tell you, I bet he would smirk, and you would know instantly. I don’t mean for Andrew Tate to make it this much, but this is to show one mindset of the elites. At times, the elites are being hypocritical, at times they are joking around (rare) or are being sarcastic, at times they lie at times, they tell the truth you know the drill. Andrew Tate is telling the truth here about what he thinks of Logan Paul.

Most Americans say they support all countries of the world. That’s how the elites get away with it how they make them their slaves.

The elites make it seem like a celebrity left the Christian faith for status, doubts, they liked a different religion better. They do it for power we now know.

Once someone goes viral then all the famous people speak highly of him or her. This is what happened to Andrew Tate. Most of them denounced him now they say he offers a lot. That’s what Joe Rogan did while talking about Andrew Tate. It is cheap.

They cut off someone’s social security at my group home and now they say they will give it back. It’s been over 3 months and they haven’t done it yet.

Andrew Tate called today’s first world countries “*”. Andrew, I know you are in on it, but do the elites not understand we have to invest in these countries? We can’t just have revolution after revolution.

Andrew Tate says to fly to South America, impregnate a woman out of wedlock, don’t let her come back to America and see the child whenever by flying there. Andrew, again man that’s now how the world works. The son or daughters’ life would be ruined. What you put out will not compensate Andrew for the damage the man has done to his son or daughter he refuses to see.

When you come to your senses that elites are putting out material to make you feel horrible inside, you get a good sense of which is it for you to feel horrible and which is to entertain where it is so blatant to make you feel horrible.

Breaking down what Andrew Tate said in a short video, “I truly didn’t believe God existed”. Andrew is saying here he didn’t believe our Lord existed, but Andrew believes his false god always existed. “Truthfully, I don’t think there is any other religion than Islam”. Andrew is saying that the only religion to get the power he wants in the Hereafter is claiming to be Islamic when he knows the name of his false religion is not Islam it is some name, he’s not giving the public. The elites do this all the time.

2000 dollars rent in Massachusetts for a decent 1-bedroom apartment. That means you must claim a mental illness so you can get social security and government housing. Then they wonder why so many people claim a mental illness. So that means so many people must go to psychiatrists though I am sure most go to psych wards to get diagnosed to have housing in Massachusetts. Way to go Massachusetts. More work brining someone to a psych ward for a minimum of 3 days to get on the list. Think of the process.

Katy Perry’s song “Dark Horse” is done to lure people to a cult by trying to convince them she knows truths about life you don’t through her song and music video. She tries to convince you of her own false belief of ancient Egypt that is different from the ancient Egypt I know. A talmudist clearly thought what the elites can put in the lyrics and the music video to try to convince them of occultist beliefs, what she is doing is distorting history and portraying it as entertainment since now we know why she does it. What the elites should have done is put at the beginning of the music video and on radios that it is in no way an accurate depiction of history and has no basis. It is targeted at teens and the majority of young adults who don’t know this. As an adult, you would know that about the music and the music video also that it has no influence on you. It is so clear they target the youth. We know Katy Perry sure wants her power and her control over others along with the staff who thought up the song and music video.

What the elites could do is elect a president that claims to have schizophrenia but obviously doesn’t where he or she acts out someone who has schizophrenia to dupe the public. This is done to influence the youth to think like the president. Because mental illness is so widespread in America, a president like that could be elected. It wouldn’t shock me at all.

The elites will say “absolutely I could be Muslim in the future” they know what they are saying that they themselves would never be Muslim and would just claim to be Muslim to try to get their power to deceive the public. They know that would have to drastically change who they are to be Muslim on top of giving up their search for power.

Ari Schafer says you are not supposed to study the kabbalah. He knows no one cares about the sick material contained in it. Years ago, the talmudists wouldn’t let you. Ari is joking about it saying it’s not part of the talmudist books but hey feel free to read it. Ari has shown that he doesn’t care for his religion at all.

Most American's simply don't care what goes on in the world outside of America, that's how the elites get away with it.

America here's a suggestion, get rid of marriage. The women don't get married until 30 if they do and nobody is interested in it till then, that's awfully late. The weddings cost too much more and more each year and divorce happens faster each year. Yes, I am saying have every child born in wedlock, it matters not to the majority of Americans whether someone is or isn't. There is no need of marriage, Americans love the concept of boyfriend and girlfriend. Both the men and the women have the highest standards for each other so each year marriages will fail quicker; with the boyfriend girlfriend concept they can leave it quickly without having to go through a divorce. The average cost of a wedding was $28,000 in 2021 in America. Because of the cost, the wife's parents will not want the guy who doesn't make that much because the parents don't want to pay for the wedding for their daughter when the guy makes 35k a year. No wonder they have boyfriend girlfriend in America. In relationships, men and women hookup and then break up. Then, the man or woman speaks highly about who they were with because the person they were with was successful and then they say, "it didn't work out." Men and women are getting out of it that they can then speak about how they hooked up with as if it is an accomplishment on their part. It affects them in no such way breaking up and finding a new partner.

They say America has been different since the 1980s and it is still one of the best countries in the world. This response shows what America does has not affected them in any way. Their life is no better or worse. For the rest of us, this is what we have to work with and make the most out of.

All these young guys are cheering on Andrew Tate when he was released viewing him as some sort of hero thinking doing webcam for girls is a good idea. This cannot be happening.

I highly doubt the elites will push polytheism. What they will do is keep talking people out of faith, distorting faith, and writing it their own way.

Despite the high rate of depression in America, the elites who run it know exactly what they are doing. This is not an indicator that they are not geniuses when they plan out America. They don't have the solution to depression in America. Look at how many views celebrities get, they know exactly what they are doing when they promote one of their own, this is the indicator.

Adin Ross yelled at a girl who had an orgy for her 27th birthday party claiming it was "haram." First, the girl is not going to listen to you, she listens to no one. Second, you are not religious Adin, why are you yelling at her? This is the state of America today.

What I have noticed happen is the more support people get, the more they expect. It's a never-ending cycle. The elites will keep pushing it and pushing it, I know it. To what scale, I don't know.

One thing I don't understand is 1/3rd is mentally ill in America and yet Americans still won't try something different. Do anything different, seriously.

Worcester is in its own regard racist, hating every race equally.

I agree with Andrew Tate on this one occasion where he says feminists are all talk. They figure to get their means they spend all day typing on the internet. They will not go to Afghanistan to protest there as if that is not who they are as people, yet they will protest in the today's first world countries ironically. Are the feminists saying that Afghanistan is not worth their time? That their world revolution will take off and then Afghanistan will join in? 61% of women in America identify as feminist and maybe .3% of them are serious about it.

With my 4-year degree I could easily be making 28k a year. A degree that costs 30k. How embarrassing.

As of 2022, each American citizen owes $94,000. The higher the inflation, the less satisfied people are with America since it seems every American wants to own a home, but only so many can afford one.

With the amount of bisexual, pansexuals, and gays skyrocketing with the youth, there will be so many orgies in the future, it's scary.

Andrew Tate may be all young white men have to aspire to make good money in life and have goals. Then it becomes who they are. This is not what I want to hear about.

With the Declaration of Independence there are two things. One, it says endowed by "their creator" unalienable rights, it doesn't say "the creator" which would mean "their creator" can mean their own personal creator apart from the false god freemasonic America worships. Second, endowed by "their creator" means I would have rights to Sharia Law since I know Allah wants me to have my rights in the Sharia such as the right to marry up to four wives. According to the constitution, Sharia Law is permitted provided it is done by Muslims and not enforced on others who believe "their (personal) creator" gave them their own rights such as the right to steal.

Dave Portnoy reviews pizza shops around America every day. You call that a fulfilling life? Eating something that will get you sick if you eat enough of it? Also, I eat out a good amount. Pizza tastes average to very good. Nothing that you just had to have you would drive 8 hours for. I find this funny.

Andrew Tate says so many different things on many different subjects, many subjects that bare no relevance mind you. The point I am bringing up here is Andrew knows pretty much everyone will agree with some of his talking points such as London being dangerous. So, what happens is someone makes a short agreeing with him and both Andrew Tate and the person making the video short get the views and their fans network from this. This is what the elites do is they keep talking constantly knowing fans from each elite will network and each elite grows from this getting more influence on their fans and expanding their fanbase. It’s cheap, really. There’s no such thing as bad publicity that applies here.

Webcam girls view themselves as part time psychologists feeling that they are “bonding” with people who pay them. This is scary beyond words.

One of their tactics is to make people in a country enjoy the worldly life so much that they cannot possibly stand up when their country is invaded.

Prostitution skyrockets at the world economic forum in Davos Switzerland. They have no morals, they are animals. All they care about is getting as sick as they possibly can through any method.

Avril Lavigne should keep making her punk music for her fans until she is 65. People will keep going to the “show” she does. I had thought her fans would stop buying what she puts out. I guess not, it just shows her fans don’t see her as aging if the music is still good enough for them since her fans listen to her because they believe even at 38, she understands them being the youth they are. I find this funny.

Christiano Ronaldo got traded to Al Nassr a soccer team in Saudi Arabia where he now lives. He’s allowed to live with his girlfriend. This shows Saudi Arabia picks and chooses everything where they want you to believe they have a form of Sharia Law that would deport Christiano for it, clearly Saudi Arabia just wants to fraud Sharia Law to get their political gain.

Andrew Tate “women are like children”. What the heck?

Today’s first world countries poses this question, why are men not “devalued” for having sex with many women, but a woman is? I have a response to this. A man is pressured into having sex with women that are viewed highly. A woman is not, nobody cares if a woman chooses never to marry. If you want to prove yourself as a man and raise your status, you have to have sex with women that are viewed highly. As a woman, that works in your favor, there are less expectations for you.

All Mac Miller liked was drugs and escaping. He did not care about his music at all, every video is him high on something in it. Yet he will lie to you and talk about how special his music is and how great the fame is. In his music, a fan of his told me how miserable Mac Miller was, I thought Mac was doing that for the youth to relate to him, not in this case. Mac must have been so miserable he put it in his music, maybe not understanding that people will pick up on this. When he does this, all the other music makes him miserable to have to produce meaning only the fans can enjoy it provided they do not do drugs for more than 2 days a week and work a job. Mac's life did not work for him, yet his fans look up to him like a hero of some kind because the music is so special to them, they will protect him from ever getting insulted where they will friend numbers if they insult Mac.

When the elites came up with their false scripture when it was produced years ago, the elites at that time only cared about power and came up with theories about religion that are impossible. For some reason the elites go along with it anyways.

15% of engineers are women. Since America talks about "equality", women will have to be required to represent at least half of engineers to fight the "patriarchy". Till then, the feminists will keep complaining.

A study was done that women find 80% of guys on a dating app unattractive. This means all these guys are going to go rushing to Andrew Tate.

Elon Musk most likely took a photo with him and his kids smiling for the sole purpose of making parents feel bad inside.

A head group home leader who has worked in the field for over 11 years told me that is very hard to get most paperwork from anything medical because the medical field wants to protect all your privacy anywhere you go. Think of how many problems this causes, when you are telling them you are ok with your information going out to the public, if need be, to get documents about yourself. Add this to the fact that workers always want a fee for paperwork, insurance, potentially meet in person. The public will want more information hidden and so will the government, yes this will get harder and harder to get simple paperwork which means more angry phone calls from parents to desk workers over simple doctor visits. The government does not want any of your information to get out to for instance the Iranian government for the government to use against the citizens of America to tell them this what your country does.

Incels and trolls are getting out of control on videogames. They are incredibly racist. They do not send out many death threats. Video games are making people who are the calmest people ever to very upset over the smallest things like if you chew nachos near them.

Asexual is a lie being promoted, there are not people in society with little to no hormones, no such person exists and has never throughout all of history. No, I am not debating this with you.

People only immigrate to America for money. This is accurate.

Andrew Tate trying to normalize adultery for men. Dr. Phil was laughing about it after watching a short by Andrew Tate. This is how absurd a generation looks; Dr. Phil is laughing at you if you are an Andrew Tate fan knowing you will never get a girlfriend.

To all the women who dress provocatively on the internet, you are not mature.

Meyers Leonard NBA player “no I did not know” when asked by an ESPN reporter if he knew “kike” was a slur for talmudist people when he said it at age 28, seriously? I know it is one example and he’s a bench player, but how is the NBA not liable for him? It gets odd too, he cries about it later saying he wants everyone to like him. I believe him, but why such a horrible response to play dumb?

Satanists historically tried to destroy countries they were living in. They couldn’t get followers that way. So now they have learned to act and be viewed as trying to give back to the public since that works on the public in today’s first world countries. Anton Lavey told the FBI in the 1980’s that his followers were “fanatics, occultists, weirdos”. Yet now all satanists are trying to push away from that image and be known as everyday people like you or I like they are Christians. I’ve read your ideas and beliefs, I can tell you they would never work, they are part of the worst ideas known to mankind.

I am a fan of the Youtuber Eric Kanevsky, he is a prank show channel except he’s not pranking. He’s made it obvious he’s making fun of the citizens of America making fake personalities for parody of people such as a transgender. He has one video where he dresses as a creep and records people on the beach to see how they will react. At what point is this harassment? People blame Eric for this, it’s your laws, not him. Do you hate your own people for allowing this? Forget human rights violation here, are we allowed any self-confidence to go to a beach without someone purposely harassing people?

Dave Portnoy of Barstool Sports says on his Instagram that he wishes misery on all his enemies. The reality is he has no enemies, no such thing exists since everyone of this earth loves him. If he does have enemies they are dehumanized and the whole world hates them, they are not allowed a voice since they don't go along with what the world wants.

I should tell people I'm one of the best sports writers in all of America and I am one of the highest employees of Barstool Sports just to mess with people with people who write in the Twitter bios all this description of them that doesn't matter.

The MLK statue in Boston no one likes costed 10 million dollars. There goes more taxpayer funds.

The zionists put out that stories in the Bible, the authors of the Bible may have been on psychedelics. The zionists are going even further to make up material to make religion seem less believable yet they themselves believe in zionism which is religious based.

To anyone who says "well, any Muslim could be a terrorist", is it fair for me to say any American could be a homosexual since the majority of Americans want gay marriage made legal in the entire country?

The average person in America has a credit card debt of $7,486 dollars as of 2023. This is a 29% increase from last year. Once their kids grow up, they will pick up worse habits and take out more money in debt which will be lent to them. This means the country will not go forward with more money because whatever more revenue is generated, it goes to spending and not investing.

Andrew Tate keeps saying the elites will kill him. When Andrew?

When someone says the elites have an agenda, the elites have it all mapped along with their pawns to make you seem insane. So, the elites seem normal, and you are viewed as crazy. Then the elites put out "normal doesn't exist." Whether they were right that normal exists or not, the elites still have the authority to decide what happens to you in the courts.

Many singers in today's first world countries are "non-binary". Someday, many rappers will be as well.

Half of the magazines at the store are of Harry Styles. Ugh.

"You are either deluded or immature if you don't want children" Jordan Peterson. Does Jordan ever stop to take a break?

All these videos YouTube videos as example True Geordie claiming Andrew Tate will blow himself up for being Muslim it will make people more and more sensitive. The videos will get longer having to explain yourself to others while trashing people like True Geordie.

Musa Cerantino a famous wahhab who joined and then left for atheism claimed that he read the Quran and said it caused him to join daesh claiming the Quran would support daesh his exact words “all I did I opened a newspaper, I read the Quran- very easy.” Good luck.

Whether there is an illuminati or not you are still there slave as an American because America does drafts and the rich and politicians and their sons and daughters are exempt while you are not.

Some of these people such as Elon Musk think so high of themselves that they don’t care if their child is transgender. Not that they don’t care what you think here but somehow, they had forgotten that a transgender child has a high rate of suicide. They are so taken out of this world. It makes you wonder if he can have any sort of responsibility for such a hard, smart, and dedicated worker.

Everyone knows this I was just reminded how Rob Gronkowski is mentally ill and he does Subway commercials, he will never be sectioned for it nor kicked off a football team.

How can American professionals call someone mentally ill when they spy on their own citizens?

$10 for parking, $100 for a bottle of liquor, and there may or may not be fights at a nightclub. All this for 2 hours of fame or else you will keep buying liquor for one glass for 6 people, that’s a scam.

My EBT benefits has gone up every month during covid, perhaps it is to hide higher prices on the mentally ill where the mentally ill thinks that they are getting more money.

Daniel Tosh at a concert I was at in 2013, he told us fans that he was sorry he had to charge $70 for tickets. He said if the tickets were $20 each, the crowd would be horrific and ruin the show. Daniel and I both accept the fact that there are so many people in America that ruin America for everyone.

I believe in the future in America, racism will go down a noteworthy amount. However, Democrats and Republicans in America will have more vulgar insults for each other in the future where both Democrats and Republicans become worse people.

“Art” and “creativity” is ruined in America let me explain why. 85% of the art shown was “gay art” to someone I knew for over a year who went to an expensive art school called Massachusetts College Art and Design in Boston where she graduated with a bachelors. Is this art to you? Why was this “art” unknown throughout history and why does it run the field?

Shoplifting has gone up 54% since last year this is year 2022. It will only go higher in the future.

An “evil eye”” means “good luck” and to “fend off” its person wearing it from “evil”. However, they themselves can use evil to get their goal. Plenty of people do not answer when you ask what it is what they wear as a necklace. This is a cult.

Do you notice how almost all rappers push drugs such as heroin and crack in every song yet never do heavy drugs, they only smoke marijuana? 2 Chainz being the best example of all.

Joe Rogan and Steven Crowder went back and forth over if pot should be made legal. This is not about these two arguing, the purpose of this is to try to get their millions of fans to go back and forth arguing no side will surrender.

Joe Rogan is truly worthless. Here’s an example, Joe wants Brittney Griner released from a Russian prison since she got caught with a form of pot. Joe then says, “does being able to shoot a basketball matter more than people locked up for marijuana?” Joe believes people should not be viewed in a higher position because the US government wants to get Brittney out and Joe wants all pot sellers to be let out. Joe are you the one who says on your channel that your name is “PowerfulJRE”? So, we the public cannot be viewed higher than someone else, but you are above all us since you are worth over 120 million? Says the guy who mocks everyone’s beliefs and has made a career over being condescending.

I can show they know drugs and alcohol are bad for your body, you will lose custody of your son or daughter (under 18) if you give your son or daughter drugs or alcohol. They push it anyways on the TV as a form of “freedom.”

You can just tell that people like Marjorie Taylor, Ilhan Omar, and Lauren Boebert, and AOC are not sincere with what they put out, but their fans don’t care anyway. All they want to do is make the opposition feel bad inside for what they believe.

People from other countries come to America to try to make wealth to send to their country to eventually move back to their country believing this is the country of the most opportunity. The days of making wealth in America are far over. The cost of living is set in America where most are either poor or upper middle class. The poor cannot work their way up. The poor hop from job to job making about the same income. Each state costs about the same to live in apart from the top six most expensive states which cost much more to live in. The poor have little spending money and have to buy their car on credit.

Machine Gun Kelly at an event when asked about what he is wearing, he says he, “rose from the ashes like a phoenix.” What an odd influencer.

What atheists do is argue with you on the internet, then after about 1-5 hours, they quit with you and go on to the next person to argue with. This is because they are committed to their atheist cause. They aren’t trying to put us Muslims down, they only want to spread and get their name out as far as possible on the internet with as many posts and as many people they had argued with so others see the numerous amounts of people they argued with and “won” the argument. This is smart for them to do. It has happened to me that atheists send a few comments, they realize I know how to talk to them, then they move on. Their goal was never to talk to me.

Through all this sports betting that is brand new, the youth will pick it up starting as young as 18. This is either bad or terrible for America. I would think bad, not terrible. More people will be seeking help as a result.

Robert L Hill on Quora says that he lives in Dubai and alcohol is overflowing in Dubai. He says those in today’s first world countries and Russians drink the most in Dubai, but those who are Emirati certainly drink a good amount.

John D Rockefellers father bore many illegitimate children. He committed adultery on the side with another woman. He faked being deaf and mute as a salesman selling useless “miracle” pills. He faked being a doctor. In 1819, the Rockefellers financed programs for eugenics in Brazil to seed out the poor from the country. John D Rockefeller said he would have taken no action to prevent the Colorado Massacre.

Someone once told me that the government won’t put its citizens in jails or exterminate them because they “Need” us to work for them to live in nice homes and be in position of authority. The US government run by the freemasons and talmudists are extremists who have down in the past they will starve anyone if they feel it will reach their goal of this “third” temple. They would turn on their own friends and family for it. They would become a person they are not for it as I have shown.

“The matrix wants men weak so it can enslave us” Andrew Tate. Please stop, Andrew.

America, you can’t just pay your citizens well and have democracy expecting it to work. Yet the elites keep expecting for it to work itself out.

It’s mostly the elderly in Catholicism, generations are all leaving Catholicism. Who will run it?

They have names like Raytheon for corporations with social media pages. I spoke to a worker there and he says the corporation is for making missiles to send to Ukraine.

Don Lemon says women in their 50’s are past their prime. CNN knew Don believes this, CNN doesn’t care nor would they fire him for saying that.

In America they have to make sure at food banks that someone lives in the town they are going to the food bank too and they have a person on a computer to make sure. This is because there are people in America that go to food bank after food bank for material and then use the money for drugs. I find this funny.

The ex-Muslims for instance are so smart they keep posting material all day long. Not for you to send them insults that you believe is correct but for hate mail from these people who spend all day thinking about them. Take for instance Shaun King who wrote on his Twitter bio “I’m back mother*!” After leaving twitter and he posts “on everyone’s mind.” On his mind, what he is saying is not for you in any way. I used to seriously dislike him back when I was 20 when I just couldn’t watch his material without getting too angry. I forgot he even exists today I am not making this up. He only does this to attack conservative white males. Good luck Shaun if it holds up for you, which I doubt it will.

There will be more and more “peace” conventions where the talmudists meet up with those who are also in on it claiming to be a part of religions. Many photos taken, more influence, more control.

Every dating website has between 30% to 60% are fake profiles of people who they are not.

Nobody has ever been assaulted for supporting Iran. No matter what Iran says, the public just ignores it.

If people’s dreams meant so much to America and Europe, why would America and Europe feel the need to end the earth? Why would the elites decide all the media, colleges, and entertainment?

To all the people who think they are a false god of some sort, you are a false god who dies. Think on that one.

It will never work having all these different flags of nations, but America will do it anyways knowing the danger it will bring.

Lex Fridman brought on Aella a porn star for 4 hours on his podcast to try to sell sexual deviancies as some sort of art. Aella talks casually about it as if it is something people do. Lex goes along with this acting as if it is something beneficial for people to engage in. Lex tries to hide his intent of trying to get his viewers to turn into animals.

The elites are either so happy or are so miserable. With the ones that are so miserable, you can tell by their voice.

The colleges are teaching women to compete with men at becoming the best at their career. They are setting women up for misery. This is because competing becomes their sole purpose, what I mean is most will feel they will miss out on life. For some women, this is great for them, but for the rest this will lead to a miserable life. This has nothing to do with gender.

You can spend up to a year in jail for telling someone's address on the internet. So much is wrong with this. First the elite's pawns can deem you crazy and take you to a psych ward for it meaning they can pick and choose. Second, we are called their slaves, this is not a "law" in place but a requirement that you address is not to be given out. Third, they would gladly give out our information to a foreign country. Fourth, they have our information on file for them alone. Fifth, the elites give out smartphones to teens who are not wise enough not to give out their address.

What the elites are trying to is make each Islamic country decide how they run it replacing the Sharia in many while trying to have the Sharia in others. This will never work nor will the real Muslims tolerate it, the real Muslims will separate from their plot which the elites have hidden from the public. We see this plot already today.

If America wanted less children born in wedlock, what they would have to do is get rid of the benefits. Clearly, the government is ok with women getting pregnant out of wedlock, they want as many births as possible. They can't just get rid of the benefits though, because then far less births will happen I do believe.

What I think the elites are doing is pushing in the near opposite direction. So after embracing all this feminism, socialism, and social justice, now they want to go in a different direction of hard work and capitalism. But not disciple clearly. I applaud the elites for doing this. It is a smart thing for them to do and I understand that they do not want their countries to go leaps backwards. It still won't work for many reasons, the main being that it will corrupt people's characters with all this high status. This may start uniting the two parties in America since both parties want status. Clearly, they don’t want America to fail. I give the elites credit for what they are doing.

There will be more and more competition so more people will miss out each generation. Each generation, there are less high paying jobs.

The nsa has every search I have ever made. But the nsa will not allow me access to it. The lady lied to me saying that they don’t have it. She then hung up. I called back and told her to go to Hell. They operate in Maryland. They purposely don’t pick up when you try again. The next lady was a black woman who called my mom a “whore” and told me to go to a psych ward for thinking they have the records. She played dumb as if they didn’t have it. Why would she have to insult me then? She told me clearly; they have nothing at all on me. She told me to call the internet provider. The internet provider wouldn’t have it. They act all sweet and innocent and then they get vicious. The worker at my internet provider who was very smart and polite said no one keeps that information at any internet provider.” This proves the nsa lady lied and knew beforehand wasting both my time and his.

What the elites and their pawns are trying to do is make the internet as unfair as possible. So they will respond to you for a bit and then delete their comments or ignore you when you give them studies. Then they never talk to you again. They want to depress the internet as best as possible. These are the same people who claim they want to “build you up” when they make videos. It’s one crafty scheme by them. They want you arguing with atheists, the elites and their pawns thrive off of it and they get to claim there is more “injustice’ because the world is “religious” to them. They aren’t trying to build atheists up. They are just trying to turn atheists who are law abiding people ugly. They keep advocating for protests. They are very smart to do this.

All “mosques” in America are neutral on everything. They teach to support all countries of the earth, what they are really saying is yes you can join the U.S. military. Inside these centers, the wahhabs recruit them. They want your information, so they record you at them.

The elites go so far, they overtake protests to ruin them. Mind you, they already have their own protests. That to me is as far as one can go.

In 98% of religious centers in America and Europe, if you mention anything about Islam, Palestine, Yemen, or Syria, they will kick you right out and go to the police. Meaning free speech doesn’t exist. They will keep reporting and reporting you, they get very angry about this.

A “mosque” in America reported me after a 4-minute phone call. The guy who ran it was irate and hung up threatening me yelling saying “I am reporting you; I know who you are!”. When you try to reason with men like these who sell out, many people will think you haven’t grown up.

You can’t tell a pastor they should be doing more for supporting Palestine.

Why do they divide and unite their beliefs? Can’t they agree to pick a route?

None of the profiles are linked to Facebook and Instagram so you don’t know who you are messaging if they are people with any credibility but they send off either very short or very long messaging of nothing that are just insults.

The Berlin “mosque” flies a lgbt flag. There you go.

The elites are using lgbt to make it seem like Muslims were “immoral” people for not being pro lgbt, that’s how low they are.

Steven Spielberg says that antisemitism in America is equivalent to 1930’s Germany. I guess all the reparations, efforts to make talmudists a part of society, and holocaust memorials were for nothing.

Can you imagine the complaints pansexuals will have against America and Europe for “injustice”.

It is by design that America and Europe says “we don’t know which religion is correct” that is the occultist polytheist belief that the elites adhere by. They want their slaves to believe that as well. They don’t want people being monotheistic.

Because the youth were raised on iPads, for most of them, their social skills are lacking bad.

On a podcast in America, a lady in her 20’s walked out of a podcast furious because a radio host said he would rather have sex with an elderly lady then a transgender because that would make him gay. She was furious because she wants him to always be willing to have sex with a transgender. She claims an injustice is done. Is this really happening?!

America is such a clown show that many people in it think their status is high when they don’t work and are deemed mentally ill. Because the government pays for their nice clothes and social media, it makes those on welfare believe such. Compare this to the 90’s where people on welfare had their own communities, they did not have much of a status. They didn’t live in the public. They had social media to show off what they bought. This could not be what the elites expected to come with welfare. You can’t tell who is on welfare and who isn't. What's amazing too is that many on welfare claim to be depressed!

They have all these dating podcasts and none of the people on it men or women can maintain long erm relationships. That is dysfunctional America, it's parody. It's one example where it is clearly not working for America and Europe.

I think the main issue is that most people don't care for what's in their name. That's a serious flaw in America and Europe faces. As long as someone is not called racist or homophobic, they care not.

First world countries, take note of this, you're not going to have both. You're not going to have status, and politics heavy. It's one or the other and politics are ruined here.

When someone converts to what they think is Islam because of a rapper or a sports player or Andrew Tate, would it be incorrect if Brittney Spears converted to what they think is Islam? Would it not be legitimate? Is her word not good? But Andrew Tate's is?

Steve Jobs children aren't allowed iPads. But Apple doesn't bother to regulate iPads?

The American right wingers speak out against transgenders doing drag shows for children. The right wingers support women showing off at sports games with children at them. The right wingers are either hypocrites or are very against transgenders. I think they are hypocrites since they want women showing off at sports games and will be upset if it is not done. What they are really saying is I want this event not this one which has the same goal.

Guys don't respect a woman who sleeps around. America and Europe is picking up on the mistakes they have made. They are learning in this one instance. All this sex crazed culture is backfiring on America and Europe. As if America and Europe will ever admit a fault.

Many of the countries such as UAE will be identical to countries in Europe which will defeat the purpose of being Muslim, this is a very bad sign of what is to come.

If Donald is going to claim he cares for the Americans who support him, start with yourself Donald, care what is in your name just a word of advice.

Americans called us mentally insane for claiming elites run most of the world and want to dominate our lives in 2007. Now in 2023 most of their commentators claim elites want to control our lives. The commentators get many views for saying this. This can be expected from the elites.

What is happening in America is that workers are either working so hard to make such little pay or they are putting out barely any work and getting paid a great sum of money. This is not intended to last. Most of the time, the workers are doing little work.

The elites try making us Muslims look like the “bad guys” because we throw it back at them. What they send out at us, we send equal in return. What do the elites want us to do? Not defend our countries? Never get involved in Lebanon?

The elites say “end islamophobia” as a way to say that we the public cannot denounce jihadis that commit acts of terror who claim to be Muslim. This is the elites way of saying that they feel they own the Muslim faith and will shame anyone who objects to them using jihadis to get their goal of a “third” temple. Incredibly low of the elites.

Separation of church and state is just a tool of America and Europe to have more control over the public. So the elites have now both their false religious centers and the state to run it.

The liberal’s method is to never tell someone they’ve done something wrong. This way of thinking will fail someday.

A woman on YouTube who is in her 20s and has a good following said most offers in California for roles in TV and movies, the guys who offer the roles to the girls offer the roles in exchange for sexual favors.

The Abrahamic Family House in UAE is an attempt to create a one world religion through “interfaith dialogue” of all people of the earth……crafty.

Vladmir Putin is considered an Orthodox Christian, he is honored, looked up to, and feared by other nations. If you are a Christian of any denomination and you were to follow what Vladmir Putin teaches, the public will call you every name in the book in America and Europe. I find this to be unreal.

Andrew Tate took to Twitter saying he would spend his first “ramadan” in jail, religion doesn’t matter to you Andrew.

Revolutions, warfare, sanctions, assassinations, stealing land, none of it works for the elites. All the elites do now is try to corrupt the youth in our countries.

The people of America and Europe are losing somewhere between bad to terrible. From my understanding, the people of America and Europe will be no better than a fair state, but I question if the people of America and Europe will ever reach it. At least for the next few generations, the people of America and Europe will be in this state.

The talmudists claim “antisemitism” that they are hated for their wealth playing victim lying saying they are not rich when it shows they are the richest group of people in America. The talmudists want their countries to be as big as possible on status. This arguably is the lowest they’ve ever been in history. Acting as if they are poor and innocent that they could not possibly run the banks.

What Andrew Tate fans are going to do is keep competing with you to believe they are superior to you. This will get to their heads and stress them out immensely on top of missing out on life. Others will feel they will have to compete with the Andrew Tate fans creating this back and forth. Not all will feel they will have to compete, but many will. We already see this on Instagram where people compete to have the life that they believe others envy.

Mark Zuckerberg is so wrapped up with himself that he cannot come up with a meaning of life……yikes!

The elites want America in a way that everything goes in America for them to criticize and then their sons and daughters get the best out of America and are in the safest neighborhoods. The elites don’t support America, clearly, they don’t wish good on the public either that only their sons and daughters can be in the nicest neighborhoods. Hypocrites.

The elites claim injustice after injustice on the public. It has done so much for them. However, it is their only method, nothing else works for them.

Saudi Arabi is building a “mega city” called Neom in the northern part of Saudi Arabia which is a “smart city” of technology. The sauds were the same people that destroyed 98% of historical cities in their country they deemed “unislamic”. Speechless 75% of Saudi people travel internationally once a year. If the sauds were as religious as they claim, the Saudi people should be banned from doing such. Wasn’t this the same country that banned women from driving?

American flags are now partly used to show someone’s sexuality which means it is solely about the person now.

The UAE is loaded with problems; it is loaded with debt and the citizens don’t enjoy it anymore. The UAE was better off not being a tourist destination, the elites ruined one of their countries. They won’t fix UAE, nor do I think they know how to by this point since it would need drastic changes.

Lauren Southern goes to transgender rallies to harass transgender protesters. Lauren laughs the whole time. If transgenders went to an American conservative rally, Lauren would go right to the cops claiming “harassment”, Lauren even presses charges when they ask her politely to leave. The hypocrisy is unreal in this one.

The zionist state anthem is called “the hope.” What is “the hope” for? What is their goal? The zionists cannot be saying that “the hope” is for their country to stay in existence.

Jordan Peterson calls mullahs’ misogynists. Jordan Peterson cries when he is called such. This is hypocritical on his part.

To all the people who say what people type on the internet isn’t what they believe. Have these people do podcasts of what they believe. If they still act like clowns on that, then I will know podcasts don’t function in today’s earth.

In America, they will not give you trouble for any bumper sticker you have. That means I have to learn what some random person wants to tell me about their political or occultist beliefs every time I drive. Why?

If there was freedom in America, there wouldn’t be curfews. In the 1960’s, there were no curfews. Now it is mandated in America through a police state.

“No taxation without representation”, what about eh zionist state 15 billion a year tax?

Steven Crowder the YouTube star threatened to “* up” his wife because she does not “respect men” and that she does not do “wifely duties.” This is the same random who cross dresses in videos, then he threatens to hit a woman? What a maniac.

Netflix has a movie on Cleopatra that depicts her as being black. The “documentary” is made by you guessed it, Jada Pinkett-Smith. Netflix put out a trailer on YouTube, comments are turned off and the dislike button is not present, go figure. Now the elites are hijacking brown Arab heritage since she is an Egyptian. It has been proven Cleopatra is not black.

Saudi Arabia is setting the stage by having concerts. At these concerts, they will try to deceive the public into thinking things are there that are not claiming that some sort of “historic religious event” is happening at one.

Sam Smith at age 30 is dressing with almost no clothes on where he dresses as what he believes to be Satan singing to music that goes against religion on a stage for his concert in front of his large crowd of fans. Sam went to a catholic school before age 18. What this tells me is that he was groomed year and years into this. I don’t believe that in the last few years, he decided to gain a lot of weight and do such actions in front of his fans. It’s the beginning for the elites who are grooming their sons and daughters. Scary.

How can there be hackers in America where the nsa watches every computer in America?

The elites use music to try to tell stories to relate to the public. These stories are depicted far wrong and are not accurate. The elites do this to deceive the public from reality.

A basketball player in the NBA said half of the players in the NBA don’t love playing basketball. It just shows the youth’s dream of being a basketball player isn’t what it seems.

Medina has the lowest crime rate in the world. However, that is in its current state. That will change in the future.

What I have observed is that when America gets worse, those who influence become bolder.

Every year, more drugs are getting spiked at colleges with fentanyl. They cannot tell which drugs are spiked and which isn’t. The college students do oxycontin and coke. At a party, all 8 who did coke will end up at a hospital, they all end up overdosed on a small amount of fentanyl. It does permanent damage to their liver, kidneys, and intestines.

It’s a new concept in America having cops have their own clinician to try to prevent sectioning from happening having the clinician speak to someone who is being questioned by the police. It’s clear they don’t want sectioning in America.

I think what happened was the talmudists, catholics, and freemasons who ran office, banking, and Hollywood took a giant step back and let these new “influencers” take over their job. Some of the talmudists, catholics, and freemasons still play a large role, but the rest play little role. These elites still run these positions at the top, but their new “influencers” do the work for them. It’s now the job of people like Ilhan Omar, Andrew Tate, Sam Smith the list goes on.

Why do people in America take such issue with Dylan Mulvaney? For other lgbt, they take no issue at all? What do these Americans expect out of Dylan? What is different about this? Dylan hasn’t made this list once, for how much he puts out, I would think there would be so much.

Ben Shapiro doesn't believe the Torah should apply into law. Ben also believes in separation in church and state. Ben don't dress as a Jew then. Stop claiming being Jewish is a part of you. Ben's religion is American conservative. Ben, since you want American conservative law, you by your own definition which you call a fact, that makes you a "radical."

Daud Kim on YouTube says to those who don't agree with what he puts online said to them "why do you hate muslims?" Daud, you don't speak on my behalf where you believe you own dominion over me, yet you claim to be a Muslim for clout. Daud, people don't want to know you because you tried to rape a girl.

A group of 16-year-old males talked about how they watched Andrew Tate and what they liked about him on Dr. Phil. Looking at these teens, they are nowhere near ready for what Andrew Tate puts out. They are many years away from what Andrew Tate puts on the internet.

I cannot publish books in America. How is that different from nazi germany the fact there are no publishers in America who will publish my books?

For some reason, Americans believe that the "American Dream" will come back in the future.

One very small country that cannot win wars in the Middle East is expected to run the whole world. Or another way of looking at it is those who run each country, they fail at their priority of winning wars in the Middle East.

Donald Trump- "No leader, especially a religious leader should have the right to question a man's religion or faith". But you hide it for them, Donald.

Che Guevara- "Let me say, at the risk of seeming ridiculous, that the true revolutionary is guided by great feelings of love.", and genocide.

Samantha Foss who is biracial is the daughter of a billionaire Trump supporter who is white said she hates white people. Samantha insulted her father at his funeral calling him a "white supremacist, racist, Trump-loving, cis straight white man." As if there aren't elites that are teaching this to their sons and daughters to hate people.

If they know you are political or religious in some way, the professionals are trained to give out the highest diagnoses possible knowing they want to blame for you beliefs since Americans will not accept you.

Poverty is now shunned for "mental health", the public goes along with it.

Whoever their false god's name is it is not our Lord Allah's name nor Jesus Christ.

I would like to see a generation section themselves since America is making its problems their own personal problem they have to resolve for America.

Each country makes it seem like their foreign relations are ongoing, we now know otherwise.

It seems like every one of every belief is criticized for what they believe in 2023. Compare this to 15 years ago when it was mostly white conservative males who were criticized.

In America, it is all about whose ideology is “better” meaning who is correct more of the time against the other ideologies. There is nothing else to it. It is all about how the other ideology is “wrong”, how unfortunate.

The professionals in America are trained to give out “schizophrenia” as the highest diagnosis if someone is political or religious. Elites are behind that considering the elites fund their own protests in black lives matter. If an American were to have a protest that isn’t black lives matter as example, then they will be deemed a “schizophrenic” by Americas professionals.

It’s no longer about having a good time when you go out. It’s if others accept what you do or not as if you are someone who is rich with a high status.

It’s no longer “joking”, it is now called “trolling” every time.

Leif Erikson a Christian Nordic explorer discovered America over 500 years before Christopher Columbus. America honors the wrong person.

Steve Jobs tried to deny that he had a biological daughter.

The Wright Brothers gave lawsuits to those who tried to invent more to aviation. This made the world miss out on years of innovation that would have moved the industry forward.

Ben Franklin was part of the Hell Fire Club which was a group that engaged in mocking religion and orgies.

Rosa Parks did not get up from the bus, not because of her age, but because she wanted to start a revolution who planned to do that.

Guy Fawkes’s only goal was to murder Protestants to try to impose catholicism on England.

Sigmund Freud was a drug addict.

Charles Dickens had his wife committed to an insane asylum so he could leave her for a teenager.

Winston Churchill did nothing to prevent the Bengal Famine.

John Lennon physically assaulted a mother and her son who was a child.

King Leopold II a roman catholic executed anyone who didn't reach the rubber collection quotas.

Sacagawea who helped Lewis and Clark was either captured by another native American tribe or she was won as a possession to her husband which is less likely. She was not sold to her husband who rescued her.

Queen Elizabeth and Buckingham Palace were exempt from the laws they had set in the 1970's to counter racism and sexual inequality. Go figure.

Susan B. Anthony at age 16 was collecting and circulating anti-slavery petitions in the Union.

Drake the rapper looks like a woman in a recent stream of his. It wasn't just his nails that were painted yellow.

Albert Einstein chose not to be president of the zionist state when offered the position in 1952. The amount of support the zionist state would have gotten globally in today's world would have been much higher. The zionist state didn't know that back then nor did Albert Einstein how he would be remembered differently if he took the position.

It seems to me that Americans want controversy and headlines all the time claiming there is an "agenda" against their beliefs so they can talk about it as much as possible. It is not the fault of the elites here; this is what the public wants in America where the Americans rush to their social media where they say it's the fault of the democrats, conservatives, elites, or talmudist pawns etc. What makes this worse is that they blame the other political party for the country, or they laugh at the other political party for not caring at all about the direction America is going in. How come every year there is more of it on social media? It is not done for fame on social media.

The catholics started a secret society called "order of the pug" in Bavaria from 1740 to 1902. New members had to wear dog collars and "scratch" to get in. Odd.

America's communities that claim to be Jewish, Christian, and Muslim get nowhere with getting along with each other because each groups goal is solely to degrade the other communities because they are not getting their way, nor will they ever given how America is designed where there is no justice at all to be found in America. Instead, they go back and forth blaming each other saying "well, if you just did what I wanted as a christian." All while that is going on, these groups will not live by religious texts at all. I wonder if they truly cannot understand scripture.

All the elites do is look for how the public reacts to who the elites put out. The elites' pawns then update by taking different stands or their pawns take steps at higher positions or resign from their roles.

I don't share humorous videos any more with coworkers because it is viewed as "trolling" to share humorous videos with them. Back in 2006, that "concept" was almost never described when humorous videos were shared.

Catholics are the shadiest group by far.

Democrat and conservative is no longer about economics and voting based on your paycheck. It is now about which party is "morally superior."

I get told by almost everyone in Massachusetts that I cannot tell people they don't do enough for their job. These same people declare themselves to be "empaths", "high priests" and "social media influencers" because it is fashionable for them. That's not how life works. That doesn't work in their favor. If there is something that will give them a higher status, they will start claiming it and say, "I was never an empath, that's not me."

Who could have predicted in a million years that the American flag would mean years later that it is used mainly to describe someone's sexuality?

These "religious" centers in America and Europe are taught not to use WhatsApp because they don't want calls that are international. So then if they get phone calls in the country they are in, they can report those who call them to the local police. The centers won't take international calls under the claim they don't want to get charged for them. It becomes hypocritical because the elites get their pawns to do Zoom with other "religious leaders" or they will visit these "religious" centers. These centers know who is calling them internationally because they see the numbers on their phones in the offices.

The elites want the next generation to believe they are "morally superior" where the elites want to make the youth obsess about the lgbt to share it on their smart phones. There is no agenda to turn their youth homosexual. That was a distraction from what is going on.

If the elites could, they would have their own religious text written their own way to try to control the public, but they cannot.